Mrs. William H. Cady Resigns From West Newton Community Centre After 23 Years Service

The Board of Directors of the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., a Newton red feather service, has accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. William H. Cady, to become effective July 1st.

As a young girl, Mrs. Cady, then Miss Gertrude MacCallum, was a clerk in the office of the Boston Y. W. C. A. and became so interested in social work through volunteer service there that she decided to make a profession of it. She attended the Recreational Training School of Chicago and while there gained experience in her chosen field by serving at Garibaldi Institute under the Presbyterian Institute Extension Service Board.

Mrs. Cady graduated in 1927 and came directly to the West Newton Community Centre where she constituted the entire trained staff. At that time there were only nine weekly group meetings which she taught with the assistance of a few volunteer workers. Even the dancing instructors were volunteers.

Each summer Mrs. Cady has helped direct the day camp run in conjunction with Pomroy House and has had charge of the water front activities. For seven busy weeks during July and August she has shared invaluable camping experiences with the boys and girls from these two Red Feather Services.

Under her leadership craft groups have been established at Agreement was reached that more extensive notification of proposed individual zoning variances be embodied in the new ordinance. A general discussion followed, with the representatives deciding to report back to their various groups.

The following groups were represented at the meeting: Newton Bankers Association, Newton Improvement Association.

Mrs. Helen A. Case Dies During Her Ninety-Ninth Year

Mrs. Helen A. Case, widow of James G. Case, entered the Great Beyond on Friday, April 28. She was in her ninety-ninth year, one of the oldest in years in Newton. For the past twenty-two years she had been a resident of this city, and a loyal member of the Auburndale Congregational Church. For the past two and a half years she had been living with her son at 20 Ware road, Auburndale.

Mrs. Case was born in Seekonk, Mass., on November 24, 1861, the daughter of Deacon Joseph Brown, a prominent farmer and earnest churchman. She graduated from the Salem (Mass.) Normal School, now the Salem Teachers' College. This training led to a period of teaching in the public schools of Pawtucket, R. I. Since her marriage in 1876, she devoted her talents to her home and family. Within the immediate circle of her relatives, friends and acquaintances she was held in loving regard.

Mrs. Case is survived by two sons, Herbert E. B. Case of Auburndale, and Harold W. Case of New York City; and by two grandsons, Roger H. Case of River Edge, N. J. and Raymond J. Case of Needham, Mass.

Our Lady's Set Back 7-1 By St. John's of Camb.

By ED PISELLI

Pitchers George Petee and James Murphy combined to give up a total of 11 walks to enemy batters, and some timely hitting on the part of St. John's of Cambridge was enough to down Our Lady's 7-1 Tuesday afternoon at Cabot Park, making it their fifth loss as against two victories.

The Purple and Gold nine went 11 innings against St. Mary's of Brookline last Friday, and was nosed out 2-1, then was severely clouted by St. Clement's of Somerville Sunday afternoon 14-3, the latter team exploding with a 10-run rally in the fifth against Coach Jim Sullivan's ace moundsman Joe MacDonnell.

St. John's literally walked away with the win, while collecting eight hits to nine for the locals, but two costly errors and some fancy base-running made it a shoo-in for the visitors.

Petee gave up a total of six walks in the three and two-thirds innings he hurled, and Murphy allowed his quota of five strollers before Joe MacDonnell was selected to stop the parade in the sixth. MacDonnell turned in a good performance for the remaining innings, allowing no free runs on passes.

Our Lady's batters proved they can tee off on enemy pitchers, but failed in the clutch, pitcher Mucci spreading the hits around so no damage was done. The second and third innings were dominated by the Saints, getting two and three respectively, and one apiece in the fourth and sixth, while Our Lady's was shut out until the last of the eighth, scoring one tally on a brace of hits. Bill Cronin laced a clean double to left, and

Teach What Is Right
In America

In a recent article Raymond Moley dealt with the people who have been convicted of serving Communism as espionage agents. Two of them, he observed, "were educated in institutions provided by the profits of the very economic system that Communism is determined to destroy."

Then he stated, and properly so we believe, "let us be slow in condemning our educational system for these failures. These people were exceptional. But it may well be considered by those who direct higher education in America whether there is not a need to reexamine their responsibilities and the way they are carried out. The danger is not that there is too much taught about what is right with Communism, but that there is too LITTLE taught about what is right in America."

However, it now seems obvious that his accusations have been given enough substance to create a strong doubt in the minds of many people to the extent of undermining confidence in the State Department and doing considerable harm to the Democratic cause in many sections of the country.

McCarthy has contradicted himself and changed his mind so many times that on the record he had to be wrong part of the time. But that doesn't alter the fact that one or more persons holding key positions in the State Department may be Communists.

You can wave McCarthy off as a head-line seeking political demagogue who makes startling charges and then asks somebody else to prove them, but you can't dismiss lightly the testimony of Louis F. Budenz.

Some of the columnists and commentators, discussing all aspects and angles of the strange situation, have speculated even on the possibility of this being a skillful Communist plot to destroy confidence in our State Department.

Almost anything is possible, but that theory just doesn't stand up in the face of the facts.

There's always a disposition to view with suspicion and skepticism a man such as Budenz who gave up his own religion, became a Communist, served the cause of Communism for years, then renounced it and returned to his own faith.

You wonder why Budenz, if he is now a loyal American, didn't speak up earlier against Lattimore, why he didn't come forward and make his statements that a man vested with responsibility and trust by the State Department was a Communist.

Whatever your doubts and uncertainties about Budenz may be, the records show that for the past four years he has been a stern foe of Communism.

He had assisted the government in flushing out hidden Communists. He exposed possibly the top Communist figure in the country. He was a key witness against the 11 Communists convicted recently in New York. He gave important testimony against Alger Hiss. He uncovered an American contact with a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

There simply isn't any doubt but that he believes Lattimore is a Communist, and the only question is whether his judgment is based on misinformation. He can't offer any strong first-hand information to support that judgment.

He bases his statement on what top Communists told him in the days when he was one of them. They could have misinformed and misled him. But it doesn't seem likely that they would. Budenz could have been the victim of a sinister plot on the part of his own former fellow Communists, but that doesn't seem to make much sense.

Earl Browder contradicts Budenz. But most people wouldn't place much stock in what Browder said one way or another. He's not exactly a reliable gentleman on whom to base anything. He undoubtedly knows whether Lattimore was a Communist. But to what extent can he be believed?

You come back to the question whether Communists tell each other the truth when they're working together and whether you can depend completely on what Budenz was told.

Most people are naturally suspicious of any information that comes from the dark, misty workings of the Communist organization, even when related by a man whose patriotism now seems beyond challenge.

Men like George C. Marshall have a staunch trust in Lattimore's loyalty. General MacArthur's former counter-intelligence chief in the Orient practically vouches for him.

It may be impossible to prove that Lattimore is a Communist, but it's going to be just about as difficult to convince some persons that Budenz didn't know what he was talking about or that Budenz himself was duped.

Blunt, outspoken Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers came right out the other day and said what a good many people have been thinking.

The occasion was a luncheon held at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington by a Massachusetts delegation which had flown to the capitol in an attempt to sell President Truman the idea of coming to Boston for the Jubilee celebration to be staged later this month by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Rogers said that one of the things wrong with Massachusetts industry is that it is competing with factories in Europe and even behind the Iron Curtain.

Then she declared that displaced persons are being brought here from overseas, that they are being clothed, fed and housed and that they are taking jobs away from our own people.

The competent congresswoman acted as if she knew exactly what she was talking about and that she could cite specific facts if anyone challenged her, which no one did.

One is likely to be called anything from a Communist to a Fascist for speaking up on that delicate subject, but there is nevertheless something to what Mrs. Rogers says.

It is one thing to extend a helping hand and even a token to displaced persons, but it is something else again to bring them into this country and have them take jobs away from American citizens.

God gives every bird its food, but he does not throw it into the nest.—J. G. Holland. And we might add the birds know it but a lot of humans apparently don't.

Current Comments

Difficult to Establish Whether Lattimore Was A Communist . . . Budenz May Have Been Duped, But Record Proves He Has Been a Loyal American for the Past Four years . . .

It may never be definitely established whether Owen Lattimore is, or ever has been, a Communist, but a few things are apparent in the raging controversy started a few weeks ago by the allegations by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Communist infiltration in the State Department.

One is that Senator McCarthy has repeatedly made irresponsible charges. In not a single case has McCarthy been able to prove any of his claims.

However, it now seems obvious that his accusations have been given enough substance to create a strong doubt in the minds of many people to the extent of undermining confidence in the State Department and doing considerable harm to the Democratic cause in many sections of the country.

McCarthy has contradicted himself and changed his mind so many times that on the record he had to be wrong part of the time. But that doesn't alter the fact that one or more persons holding key positions in the State Department may be Communists.

You can wave McCarthy off as a head-line seeking political demagogue who makes startling charges and then asks somebody else to prove them, but you can't dismiss lightly the testimony of Louis F. Budenz.

Some of the columnists and commentators, discussing all aspects and angles of the strange situation, have speculated even on the possibility of this being a skillful Communist plot to destroy confidence in our State Department.

Almost anything is possible, but that theory just doesn't stand up in the face of the facts.

There's always a disposition to view with suspicion and skepticism a man such as Budenz who gave up his own religion, became a Communist, served the cause of Communism for years, then renounced it and returned to his own faith.

You wonder why Budenz, if he is now a loyal American, didn't speak up earlier against Lattimore, why he didn't come forward and make his statements that a man vested with responsibility and trust by the State Department was a Communist.

Whatever your doubts and uncertainties about Budenz may be, the records show that for the past four years he has been a stern foe of Communism.

He had assisted the government in flushing out hidden Communists. He exposed possibly the top Communist figure in the country. He was a key witness against the 11 Communists convicted recently in New York. He gave important testimony against Alger Hiss. He uncovered an American contact with a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

There simply isn't any doubt but that he believes Lattimore is a Communist, and the only question is whether his judgment is based on misinformation. He can't offer any strong first-hand information to support that judgment.

He bases his statement on what top Communists told him in the days when he was one of them. They could have misinformed and misled him. But it doesn't seem likely that they would. Budenz could have been the victim of a sinister plot on the part of his own former fellow Communists, but that doesn't seem to make much sense.

Earl Browder contradicts Budenz. But most people wouldn't place much stock in what Browder said one way or another. He's not exactly a reliable gentleman on whom to base anything. He undoubtedly knows whether Lattimore was a Communist. But to what extent can he be believed?

You come back to the question whether Communists tell each other the truth when they're working together and whether you can depend completely on what Budenz was told.

Most people are naturally suspicious of any information that comes from the dark, misty workings of the Communist organization, even when related by a man whose patriotism now seems beyond challenge.

Men like George C. Marshall have a staunch trust in Lattimore's loyalty. General MacArthur's former counter-intelligence chief in the Orient practically vouches for him.

It may be impossible to prove that Lattimore is a Communist, but it's going to be just about as difficult to convince some persons that Budenz didn't know what he was talking about or that Budenz himself was duped.

Blunt, outspoken Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers came right out the other day and said what a good many people have been thinking.

The occasion was a luncheon held at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington by a Massachusetts delegation which had flown to the capitol in an attempt to sell President Truman the idea of coming to Boston for the Jubilee celebration to be staged later this month by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Rogers said that one of the things wrong with Massachusetts industry is that it is competing with factories in Europe and even behind the Iron Curtain.

Then she declared that displaced persons are being brought here from overseas, that they are being clothed, fed and housed and that they are taking jobs away from our own people.

The competent congresswoman acted as if she knew exactly what she was talking about and that she could cite specific facts if anyone challenged her, which no one did.

One is likely to be called anything from a Communist to a Fascist for speaking up on that delicate subject, but there is nevertheless something to what Mrs. Rogers says.

It is one thing to extend a helping hand and even a token to displaced persons, but it is something else again to bring them into this country and have them take jobs away from American citizens.

Central Massachusetts

The central Massachusetts town of Webster boasts of a lake which may be the nation's largest as far as names are concerned. It's Lake Chaubunagungamaug, a 17-letter (count 'em) tongue-twister that delights tourists.

And like Lake Chaubunagungamaug, central Massachusetts is a region of pleasant surprises. It's pictureque hills and dales, friendly inns, trim houses, leisurely rivers and drowsy country lanes enthrall visitors who come from all over the country. The area is dotted with some 50 resort centers which are conveniently situated near excellent fishing spots and fine facilities for picnicking and camping.

Just off the busy New York-Boston highway is Sturbridge Village. A living museum, the Village recreates a New England country town of the early 1800's. Here, where water from the Mill Pond turns a 20-foot undershot wheel, the miller of the Village grinds corn and grain between two pairs of ancient millstones.

You figure it out—the government has taken in this year $27,290,472,933. It has spent this year, $29,000,331,948. It owes $255,904,181,521.

High prices to the farmer—lower prices to the consumer sounds wonderful, doesn't it. But remember you pay for both—the higher prices for the farmer and the cost of the government organization which runs the system.

Detection of Heart Disease Is Subject of Community Council Talk

A discussion of the city-wide program for the detection of heart disease was the subject of the annual dinner meeting of the Newton Community Council held at the Y.M.C.A. last Thursday evening. Following a brief business meeting and the election of officers, Charles O. Richter, council chairman, presented to the assembled delegates three Newton physicians representing the local Health Department and the staff of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Dr. Ernest M. Morris, Public Health Director, credited the City of Newton with having the high calibre of medical practice that resulted in its selection by the U. S. Bureau of Public Health as the first city to undertake a community-wide heart program. Pointing out the extremely high local and national death rate due to heart disease, Dr. Morris expressed full confidence in the type of free screening examination to be offered all residents of the city next fall.

Dr. Egon E. Kattwinkel, a senior staff physician at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, spoke of Newton's present survey of rheumatic fever cases and told of the development and use of many new drugs in the treatment and prevention of such diseases. In referring to the dangers of overexertion and excessive weight as well as to the high incidence of heart disease in elderly people, Dr. Kattwinkel welcomed the proposed heart program designed to detect early symptoms of heart disorder.

Dr. Walter C. Blanchard reported the results of limited heart study programs which indicated the need and practicability of community-wide screening. Local physicians, Dr. Blanchard stated, have long been interested in developing an inexpensive and effective single screening device for heart disorders and look forward eagerly to the opportunity to conduct such a program throughout the City of Newton.

At the conclusion of the physicians' reports delegates from all Newton welfare and service organizations were given an opportunity to witness an actual screening demonstration presented by members of the Newton Community Council, Dr. Zukel from the Heart Demonstration Program, and Miss Packer from the Newton Health Department.

It is anticipated that all organizations throughout the city will cooperate with local Health authorities and committees of the

"Your committee has labored hard and long to provide an attractive and fitting program for the dedication of Oak Hill Park. There are, however, other requirements necessary to insure success, the most important being generous outpouring of citizens to the event.

Gardens—

This year the owner of one of the gardens to be opened, wants suggestions for improving her garden from this year's visitors. Mrs. Harold Keller, of 37 Sheffield road, says she loves her garden but she gets into a rut in the planting of it. So she is offering a choice garden plant to the man or woman offering her the most practical and unique idea for improvement. She says she wants to learn from this experience of having her garden open for inspection.

Not that there is much room for improvement in this lovely garden of Captain and Mrs. Keller. The way it opens out into other nearby gardens and into the woods at the rear offers a spaciousness that is not often experienced in the small garden. The back of the yard is retained practically in its natural state to fit into the woodland beyond. This brings the perennial border and rock garden closer to the house where it is certainly made the most of through the large picture windows. Through these there are truly lovely pictures to be enjoyed; all the early flowering bulbs, giving a yellow and white picture at the first of the season. Later come the tulips, then the roses, where yellow is also a favorite color. Mrs. Keller is particularly proud of her yellow tree-roses, which one doesn't often see in a garden these days. Though these won't be in bloom at the time of the tour, the visitors will be interested to see how they fit into the small garden.

For those who like a very small garden, there is the charming little out of doors living space of Mrs. John E. Milner, with its play yard for the grandchildren flanked by a small wild garden and pool. At the other side of the yard is an enclosure outlined by a low picket fence covered with roses and edged with gay tulips. Ferns grow here in abundance, trillium and violets and other wild flowers that are easily grown by the average gardener. Two beautiful dogwoods in front make a spectacular entrance to the yard and the two gnarled 200-year old oaks that meet over the top of the house, give a most interesting and unusual touch to the whole Wellesley.

Newton Red Cross Represented at Conference

Miss Patty Brownell of Lasell Junior College represented the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross at a conference of New England college students held last Saturday at the Chapter House of Cambridge Red Cross.

Panel discussions were held on various subjects. The first was on College Participation in the Blood Program. Mr. Jack McCarthy, field representative for the National organization, led the panel in which Harvard, Sargent, Leslie and M.I.T. were represented. The second panel was on Volunteer Services. The primary field of service is to Veterans Hospitals, the training of Gray Ladies and supplying hospitals with entertainment. A great deal of work is being done in mental hospitals by this group.

After a lunch served by the Cambridge Canteen a third panel discussion was on the Interpretation of Red Cross on the Campus, in which Miss Patty Brownell of Lasell Junior College participated.

The discussions were followed by a tour of the Regional Blood Center at 314 Dartmouth street in Boston. A tea served by the Boston Chapter Canteen completed the day's conference.

Newton people attending the conference were: Mrs. Ralph Keyes, chairman of the College Activities Committee; Mrs. Herbert Wiley, Red Cross Advisor for Mount Ida Junior College, and Miss Marjorie Phelon, executive director, Newton Chapter Red Cross.

Rodeo Day Promises to Be Climax Of Record Breaking Cub Scout Year

Newton's Rodeo Day, Saturday, April 29, promises to be the climax of a record-breaking Cub Scout year.

With more boys and adult Scouts registered than ever in Norumbega Council's history, this Red Feather agency has the numerical strength and enthusiasm to make this the best annual show.

Four Wild West and Rodeo shows will be held simultaneously at West Newton, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, and in Wellesley. All plan to start with a street parade early in the afternoon, followed by a variety show of western acts and music. Midways, pony rides, cowboys and Indians will be added attractions.

At the Warren Junior High playground show, sponsored by Viking District, the parade will start at 1:30 and there will be fifteen acts in the show which follows: A stagecoach scene with Hopalong Cassidy and a Lone Ranger-Tonto act are highlights in their show. Alan Shaw is general chairman and other workers are William D. Mann, George Pierce, William Howard, Paul Hegly, and Melvin Dengel.

Cold Spring Playground where Newton Upper Falls, Waban, and Newton Highlands Cubs will entertain, is featuring a 35-piece band in the parade and show. The boys will have arrows posted at strategic places in the communities directing their visitors to the playground.

Sachem District will stage its show at the Newton Centre playground, with sideshows following the main event. It is Sachem's first outdoor show. They too will have a 1:30 parade. Joseph Gilbert is one of the adult workers, and needless to say he has plenty of eager helpers, both young and old.

In Wellesley, Norman Long reports his Neholden District Cubs are ready to go with similar scenes and events.

In all these places the hard-working and understanding Den Mothers are foremost in the work of preparation. Their ingenuity and patience will be rewarded on Rodeo Day when Newton and

Mrs. Jos. A. Pink Wins Tangle Town Contest Award

Mrs. Joseph A. Pink of 538 Ward street, Newton Centre, won a $25 prize in the Boston Globe's Tangle Town Contest and believes last week should have a blue ribbon tied around it.

She and her young husband, who works for a cable company, celebrated their new daughter's third birthday (counting by weeks, that is), they their own second wedding anniversary, and the 27-year-old mother got the good news that she was a Tangle Town winner.

"With a new baby I can really use the money," said Mrs. Pink, whose small daughter is named Cecilia Mary.

A graduate of Mt. Alvernia Academy, who has lived in Newton all her life and she and her husband live with her mother, Mrs. Octavia Vaas, in a pleasant, roomy house on Ward street. Since Mrs. Pink was expecting to go to the hospital momentarily while she finished the tie-breaker, her mother and brother took her entry in to deliver it in person at the Globe office.

"I never had so much fun in all my life," said Mrs. Pink. "It was just like an election night."

Leaders & Mothers View Projects

Proud leaders and mothers viewed the projects of the girls who participated in the Food and Clothing Demonstration at the Rebecca Pomroy House, a Newton Red Feather Agency, Monday evening.

The girls in the clubs lead by the following leaders: Mrs. Isabel Norton, Mrs. Elsa Frediani, Mrs. C. Miller, Mrs. Jean Barrett, Miss Virginia Fisher, Miss Patricia O'Bryne brought muffins, gingerbread and apple crumb cake to be judged by Mrs. Dorothy Wood and Miss Stewart from the 4-H County Extension Service.

A number of girls won blue ribbons for their presentations. The muffins brought by Carol Peters and Stella McLaughlin; the gingerbread brought by Ursula Moran, Virginia Gray and Dorothy Boughan and the apple crumb cake entered by Constance Miller; the sewing articles finished by Cecile Ryan, Geraldine Delicata, Nancy Farrall and Catherine Neville all were awarded blue ribbons. Carol Peters seemed to prove her excellence in three projects. The notebook showing her year's achievement also won a blue ribbon, while she and Jean Baldasaro won blue ribbons for their presentation of a skin entitled "The Right and Wrong Preparation for Making Muffins" which was written by their leader Mrs. Norton. The final blue ribbon was awarded to Ann Marie Haley for her part in the dress revue.

A steering committee of five girls, chosen from Miss Bonin's classes worked for several weeks to make the afternoon the great success that it was. Peggy McMurrer and Cheryl Worthen had charge of details of organization and writing invitations to the overseas guests. Virginia Chase was responsible for posters and publicity over the school radio. Sue Seested arranged for cars to go to Cambridge to pick up the foreign students and to return them there after the program. Deborah Harvey was in charge of collecting recipes for foods from other lands and arranging to have them copied and stapled together in an attractive booklet entitled "International Friendship Recipes."

Miss Hattie Hinckley and Mr. Edwin Frye of the faculty assisted in making signs and posters for the tables. The first part of the program was in the foods laboratory. Flags of all the members of the United Nations decorated the large room. Tables presided over by members of the foods classes were attractively

Members of the boys' pre-choir under direction of Miss Mabel Turner, head of the Home Economics Department, prepared and served a luncheon for Mrs. Lee. Among other guests invited by Mr. Floyd Rinker, head of the Department of English, were Mrs. Alden B. Thresher, member of the Newton School Committee; Mr. Harold Gores, superintendent of Newton Public Schools; Mr. Raymond A. Green, principal; Dr. Albert Naves, head of the Science Department; Miss Irene Haworth, adviser to the English Club; Miss Alice Kennedy, and Mr. Harry L. Walen.

After school, Mrs. Lee talked with a few teachers and pupils in the social room. An informal discussion was carried on, at which Mrs. Lee told her impressions of Newton High School. She particularly enjoyed the friendliness of the classrooms, the progressive spirit of the school, and the student co-operation. She was very interested in the Fred-erick exchange.

Miss Irene Haworth, faculty adviser for the English Club, said, "the school is indeed fortunate to have such a distinguished guest."

homogenized milk at a higher price, the price being in excess of the cost of homogenizing.

"The Commission unanimously proposes to outlaw all the fancy brand names as misleading and to require milk to be graded in three legal grades, (1) "Approved," being the lowest; (2)

"Approved," with a higher cream content; and (3) "Certified" with a very tiny bacteria count. Actually, "Approved" milk has a normal amount of cream and a low bacteria count. It is entirely healthy and reasonable for normal use. New York City with three grades of milk and publication of prices was paying two cents a quart less than Boston the first of this year.

"In objecting to price-fixing, the dissenters point out that the fixing of minimum prices in the past has always resulted in a price based upon the least efficient distributor and has injured the public by making it a crime to undersell. The farmer, who produces milk, is already protected by federal legislation against too small a price for raw milk. The only area of price-fixing open to the State officials is in the distribution system.

Senator Joseph F. Gibney was chairman of the commission. Representatives Richter of Brookline and Putman of Needham filed separate dissenting reports in addition to the report signed by Senator Lee, Mrs. Sagoff and Representative Richter.

Women Traffic Officers Expected to Start on Duty About May 20

The city's first women police traffic officers are expected to start their duties about start their duties about May 20, according to Police Chief Philip Purcell. They will handle traffic at some of the city's schools.

The 20 women officers will receive $50 a month for their work and will be uniformed by the city. As yet, the full uniform has not been selected but the final specifications have almost been completed.

A skirt and uniform blouse will be made of navy blue serge, with a cotton blouse, black shoes and a cap. The model of the skirt and blouse will be that of the WAC, the chief said. The style of the cap is still under consideration.

Chief Purcell has been "screening" the 68 applicants during the past two weeks, and had interviewed more than half of them now. He said that he will finish the interviews before he begins hiring anyone.

Thus far, only married women have applied, he said. The women will finish out this school year to see how they work out. If they prove successful, they will return to action next September.

Although the idea of the women traffic officers is new here and in New England, it is not new throughout the country. In Cincinnati and Pittsburgh the plan has been used and has proved successful.

It was presented to the Board of Aldermen and to Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood after a five day week had been voted for the police department. The chief told the city officials that a five-day week with regular full time patrolmen would cost the city more than $70,000 annually.

After their appointment to the force, the women will be sent to police school to learn the basic laws and the basic rules of directing traffic.

In remarking how she felt being chosen "Cinderella," Carole said: "I went down with the other girls to register because Mr. E. (editor of "Teenage") gave us ride to the theatre and well, I had nothing to do and it seemed to be a lot of fun. I never thought I'd have a chance and when I was told I was the winner, I just had to ask three times to really believe it. I want to thank everyone who voted for me and especially all those nice merchants who contributed those wonderful prizes."

Being chosen "Cinderella" is a thrill I shall never forget."

Blue-eyed, tall and slender, Carole is one of the more popular and attractive Newton High school girls. She will attend Kueka College next year, and hopes to become a medical secretary.

Five Runs in One Inning Enough to Defeat Newton

By JOE MCGAFFIGAN

Long John Thomas and Newton High's nine lost a heart-breaking 5-3 decision to Arlington High last Thursday at the Spy Ponders' home field. Arlington tallied its full quota of five runs in the fifth inning following a tough break for Howard Ferguson's Tigers.

With two outs Jack Cosgrove lofted a routine fly to Freddy Dauten in right field. While moving back to field it, Dauten walked into a wire fence, three feet high encircling a reseeded section, and the ball bounced out of his glove. Cosgrove was awarded a double and then the roof fell in on Thomas.

Next batter, Paul Bilafer, belted a long double to left scoring Cosgrove with the first run of the game. Larry Morgan scored Bilafer with a single to left and then took third on catcher Joe Landry's throw into center while trying to nail him at second. Bernie Dolan slammed a one-hopper back to Thomas who with all the time in the world threw low past lanky Al Phinney, thus permitting Morgan to score the third run of the inning. Dick Meehan singled and Charles Oppedisano walked to load the bases. Pitcher Don Swanson won his own game when his line single to center drove in two runs, Arlington's margin of victory. Bob Schlosberg forced O'Brien to ground out to end the inning. (Phew!)

The Tigers refused to give up. With Joe Landry driving in two runs, they tallied three runs in the top of the sixth. Al Phinney opened the inning with his second bingle of the game. Schlosberg struck out but lead off batter Freddy Keith walked. Co-captain Rich Rycroft forced Keith at second but Dauten walked to load the bases. Buster Keyho reached on Noyes' error at short and Phinney scored on the play. Joe Landry then lashed a line single to left tallying Dauten and Rycroft. Beatty fanned for the final out.

The Tigers threatened only once more during the game. They loaded the sacks with two down in the eighth but failed to score when Dick Sullivan went down swinging.

Except for the fifth inning, the Tiger pitching was superb. Thomas gave up two hits and fanned six in the first four frames while Schlosberg pitched hitless ball for three and a third innings. Arlington's Don Swanson was excellent. He gave up five hits, was credited with 11 K's, and set the Tigers down in order in the second, third, fourth, fifth and ninth.

The defeat, which is Newton's first, is also Thomas' first loss in two years. He had a 4-0 slate in 1949.

Tanner Is Strong Contender For B. C. Backfield

This year could be a highly successful year for the B. C. Eagles on the gridiron if the element of inexperience can be erased. The talent is there and the strong desire to play is definitely present.

The spring drills meant a great deal as these boys coming up from the freshman class were given a harsh orientation of varsity football and head coach Denny Myers had but a few qualms when the sessions were concluded recently.

At right half two strong contenders for the job are a freshman product, Newton's own Frank Tanner, and Doug Millette, of Freeport, N. Y. Tanner has had a great deal of power in his legs while Millette is lighter and capable of more speed.

Coach Denny Myers is seldom an optimistic man but when the recent drills were finished he insisted that this team of 1950 would give the people the type of football they like to see and at the same time will give the opponents the type of play they don't like to see.

The Boston Braves last week announced the outright release of righthander Dick Manville, of Newton, former Yale pitching star, to the Milwaukee team of the American Association.

Manville has had three trials with the Braves and will be eligible in future major league drafts. His release cuts the Braves' roster to 26, one over the player limit which goes into effect next week.

Tigers Romp 12 to 2 Over Brookline High Nine

By JOE MCGAFFIGAN

Pitcher Gib Studley and Joe Landry combined to help Newton High Tigers romp over Brookline High's nine 12-2 last Friday at Dickinson Stadium. Gib allowed opposing batters only seven hits while scoring six strikeouts.

Landry batted out three hits, one a double, and drove in five runs in four trips to the plate. It was a 2-2 ballgame at the end of three innings, but after that the Newton Club ran wild. They scored two in the fourth, four in the fifth, and four again in the sixth.

The first two Tiger runs came in the first after walks to Keith and Rycroft, and Landry's base-clearing double. Singles by Hickey, Chalmers, and Roche, the latter a two-run blow, netted Brookline its runs in the third. The Tigers went ahead for good in the fourth. With one away Sullivan singled to right, Santucci walked, and Studley reached when catcher Day tripped while attempting to field Gib's bunt. Freddy Keith accounted for two runs with a line single to left.

They tallied four more in the fifth off Bill Lee, Hickey's successor. Buster Keyho singled through the box, Landry singled to left, and Peter Santucci walked to load the bases. Sullivan forced Keyho at the plate with a bunter to short. Lanky Al Phinney then cleared the sacks with a triple to center. Roy Chalmers' centerfielder for the visitors, fell when he attempted to make a shoe-string catch on Phinney's sinker. Al tallied when Freddy Keith reached on Farley's bad throw to first.

Lee went out for a pinch-hitter and Bill Nelson came in to face the hungry Tigers. Dauten walked, Keyho singled to right, and Joe Landry tallied both of them with a long double to left center. Peter Santucci single-tallied Landry and ended Nelson's stay on the mound. Dick Sullivan singled but was forced at second by Al Phinney; Santucci moved to third on this play and scored seconds later on Studley's long fly to left. This ended the scoring because Bob Stein held the Tigers scoreless in the seventh and eighth.

Although he was charged with two errors, third baseman Dick Sullivan played his new position

Runners batted in: Landry, 4; Day, 2; Keith, 2; Phinney, 3; Santucci, Studley.

Stolen bases: Day, McGoldrick, 1; Sullivan, 1; Nelson, 1. Bases on balls: Studley, 5; Day, McGoldrick, 1; Sullivan, 1; Nelson, 1. Struck out by: Phinney (Dauten), 1; Landry, 1; Santucci, 1; Studley, 1; Sullivan, 1; Nelson, 1. Umpires: Cleary, Silva.

Cronin started things off in the first, lifting a high smash to right, and making third when fielder Matthews lost the ball in the high wind. An error brought Cronin in, and the locals had a one run advantage.

Two walks, double, and a wild pitch accounted for Our Lady's second tally in the third. Luke Fannon collected the first walk and went to third on a long double by shortstop Cronin.

Third sacker Kevin Burns was at the walk to fill the bases, and a wild pitch by St. Mary's Ed Callahan allowed Fannon to score.

The locals' big inning was the seventh, pushing across three runs, Cronin and Pettee's hitting coming at the opportune moment. Bill McCarthy reached on a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice by McDonnell, and Callahan's throw to second failed to cut McCarthy down when the Our Lady's first baseman beat the throw.

Cronin made his day complete

Our Lady's Victor Over St. Mary's, (W), 5-1

By ED PISELLI

Behind the fancy two-hit pitching of ace Joe McDonnell, Our Lady's High broke out of a five game losing streak last Sunday afternoon by defeating arch-rival St. Mary's Waltham, 5-1 at Cabot Park.

Coach Jim Sullivan's nine could only realize four hits, and these the combined efforts of Bill Cronin, who collected three for himself and George Pettee getting one and driving in two runs in the seventh inning. Our Lady's scored singletons in the first and third frames, adding three more insurance runs in the seventh.

McDonnell turned in one of his best performances of the season, walking only two, and striking out an even dozen. Our Lady's top moundsman sweated through only the fourth, and found himself behind the batters when he gave up his two hits. Lenny Matthews and Joe Tebeau both registered for singles after only one man was retired. But McDonnell accepted the challenge, getting Matthews out at third on a fielder's choice and fanning the next batter for the third out.

Cronin started things off in the first, lifting a high smash to right, and making third when fielder Matthews lost the ball in the high wind. An error brought Cronin in, and the locals had a one run advantage.

Two walks, double, and a wild pitch accounted for Our Lady's second tally in the third. Luke Fannon collected the first walk and went to third on a long double by shortstop Cronin.

Third sacker Kevin Burns was at the walk to fill the bases, and a wild pitch by St. Mary's Ed Callahan allowed Fannon to score.

The locals' big inning was the seventh, pushing across three runs, Cronin and Pettee's hitting coming at the opportune moment. Bill McCarthy reached on a walk, moved to second on a sacrifice by McDonnell, and Callahan's throw to second failed to cut McCarthy down when the Our Lady's first baseman beat the throw.

Cronin made his day complete by bouncing a hard hit to short bringing McCarthy home with the third run. Pettee finished the job, and scored both McDonnell and Cronin with a sharp single through the middle for the fourth and fifth Our Lady's runs.

St. Mary's registered their lone tally in the ninth on a base on balls with no one out, and Halloran moving around to finally score on two infield outs.

Mother's Day

Mother's Day will be observed on next Sunday, May 14, as a symbolic expression of love and respect for the mothers of this nation.

This day was originated back in 1908 when Miss Anna M. Jarvis, a Sunday School teacher, held a memorial church service for her mother at the Andrews Methodist Church in Grafton, West Virginia.

Her idea then spread far and wide until in 1914 President Wilson signed a Congressional Resolution designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

Since that time young and old alike on this day become boys and girls again, looking down the vista of life with the unspoiled eyes of childhood, recalling the years when gentle arms shielded them from hurt and when wise words of counsel eased the way along the road.

The wisdom innate in mothers has guided and strengthened them throughout all trials, turning sacrifices into joys, adding meaning to every menial task, giving them a high degree of courage to overcome adversities.

As a result, these consecrated lives, filled with love and devotion, exerted an enabling influence over the family group, and under this benign reign early training in religious principles, social behavior and civic usefulness were firmly planted.

Looking out over the troubled world that we know today, we can give thanks for the mothers of America who continue on in their unselfish devotion to their children, nurturing them in physical strength and providing the sound moral foundation on which good character must be based.

On Mother's Day, and on every day throughout the year, children of all ages need no urging to honor their parents, to be considerate of their well-being, and to provide for them in their old age.

A sound family ethic is the foundation of our nation. With the continuity of happy and peaceful home life in America, our country, regardless of exterior pressures, will be ever stronger from within. To the degree that our family ties represent bonds of silken chords will our homes truly represent "mansions of happiness on earth."

Let Them Square
Their Proposals

In a nation-wide survey recently undertaken to secure the opinions of weekly and daily newspaper editors, it is gratifying to note that they are almost unanimous in their opposition to the socialistic philosophy.

On the question of "Do you favor socialism?", 1,316 voted no and only 25 voted yes and on the question of capitalism, 1,306 voted yes and only 34 no. In answer to the question, "Do you feel that your personal liberty would be endangered if the business or profession in which you are engaged was taken over by government?" 1,296 editors said yes and only 43 said no.

While it is true that the replies of the editors do not speak for the general public, it is gratifying to note they are almost unanimous in the opposition to the socialistic philosophy.

Millions of people would vote "no" to socialism if it were presented to them under its true name. But when it is fed to them in the form of cheap government money, government housing, government medicine, government electricity, government pensions, government unemployment insurance, government this and government that, they overlook the fact that government is dominating their lives. This can only lead to confiscatory taxation and socialism.

The question is how to get the people to see this before liberty is scuttled by the political forces that seek ever increasing power in this nation, the same as similar political forces have gained a death grip on the principal nations of the world, with resulting loss of freedom for hundreds of millions of individuals.

The United States is fortunate in having a free press and it is still more fortunate in having a press that stands for American ideals of free opportunity and private enterprise.

Everyone can help in this cause. Ask your political leaders to square their proposals with our American idea of government as contrasted with foreign philosophy; insist that civic and industrial leaders show their colors and work to perpetuate a type of government under which we enjoy the opportunity to progress and prosper.

Freedom of speech, freedom of religion and freedom of workers to organize, all disappear when a centralized socialistic government becomes a fact.

Bored residents of Atlantic City, which depends on the tourist trade, were cautioned by their Chamber of Commerce never to "argue with a visitor" and to answer "Yes, sir," and not "O.K., bud," to vacationists.

Here's the tip of the week, ladies. Women baseball fans in Brooklyn, N. Y., were advised by that city's Red Cross chapter not to wear girdles at baseball games because "they strangle the emotions."

Current CommentsPresident Truman Will Defend the 81st Congress in His "Non-Political" Trip Across the Country . . . Voters May Find It Hard to See How It is an Improvement Over the 80th Congress

President Truman's so-called non-political tour across the country is being staged under more favorable circumstances than the ones he made in the early summer and fall of 1948, but the results may not prove as effective.

Mr. Truman then was cast in the role of the little man fighting gallantly against heavy odds, and as the underdog who refused to admit he was beaten, when just about everyone else believed he was, he captured the imagination of the people and won their sympathy.

His target on his '48 trips usually was the 80th Congress and he went deep into his bag of superlatives as he fashioned the homespun shafts he hurled at that body, referring to it as a "do-nothing" and the "worst" Congress.

Where the 80th Congress was under Republican rule, the 81st is under Democratic control, and Mr. Truman has to be a little more careful in his references to the present body lest at some point he leave an opening for a damaging G.O.P. counter-blow.

A great many people of Democratic leanings can't see that the present Congress is any big improvement over its predecessor. Certainly, it hasn't redeemed all the pledges Mr. Truman made in his '48 campaign, and it hasn't come anywhere near enacting the program the President outlined to the people.

Bradford Williams, landscape architect for the plantings, is more than satisfied with the way they have come along since first being established three years ago. At that time over 600 field-grown laurel and 18 hemlocks were set out in ground well prepared in advance at the following intersections: Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue, where the planting is most elaborate, being on both sides of Walnut street; Centre street and Commonwealth avenue; and at Norumbega Park, which is one of the entrances to Newton. This planting was taken care of by Mr. Gill, owner and manager of the Park who is very much in favor of the entire scheme.

Interspersed with the laurel and hemlock, which is the theme for all plantings, are many flowering trees such as dogwood, flowering crab, Washington thorn, and other shrubs and small trees chosen for some kind of spectacular beauty. All the plants chosen will give the greatest possible return for a minimum of care to facilitate the work of the city gardeners in later years.

After once being established, these plantings are turned over to the City of Newton, without whose fine cooperation they could not have existed. Already the city has mulched them during each winter, established benches and pebble-platforms for use at the various bus stations so people would be discouraged from walking on the plantings themselves, and framed them with grass so they will be nicely set off. The present idea of the Newton Tribune Foundation is to see that the three established plantings are well launched and then they hope to introduce additional plantings at other needy spots and thus help Newton earn its right to be called "Garden City."

Tickets for this third tour of Newton gardens can be had from presidents of the various garden clubs: Mrs. Franklin Hoyt, Auburndale; Mrs. William Best, West Newton; Mrs. Harry Cummings, Newton Center; Mrs. Edgar Thyn, Newtonville; Mrs. Herbert Dunn, West Newton Educational; Mrs. William Bedford, Newton Highlands.

sponsored by the Newton Tribune Foundation.

For the past weeks the committees have been busy getting everything in readiness. Many prominent men and women of all the Newtons have been helping with this project, including Louis Bachrach, whose garden was open last year. Mrs. Douglas Francis, vice-president of the Newton Tribune Foundation, Mrs. Fletcher Eades, Dr. William Macdonald and Mrs. Allen Brailey, both of whose gardens have been open in the past, Mrs. Ralph Keyes, Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, Mrs. Walter B. Godsoe, Mrs. John Brown of Auburndale, president of the Newton Tribune Foundation, Orville Clapper, Warren Oliver, Mrs. Ernest Railback and others. Harold A. Wooster, secretary of the Newton Tribune Foundation has been invaluable in his efforts at getting out notices, and there are other officers and directors unflinching in their work and cooperation with regard to the plantings along Commonwealth avenue.

These plantings, it will be remembered, are more than just "something to look at." They are an expression of appreciation from the citizens of Newton to those men and women of the city who served during the war, a small, but sincere tribute to the efforts of those men and women.

There are also a number of historic shrines now managed by non-profit associations, such as those at Concord and Lexington, which might also be placed in jeopardy.

Mrs. Earl Stevenson also held a meeting, May 3 of her committee on flower arrangement, with Mrs. Robert S. Bolan, Mrs. George M. Lovejoy, Mrs. Charles Gleason, Mrs. Robert Wells, Mrs. Williams (from Dedham) and Mrs. Douglas in attendance.

Other committees have been meeting all over the Newtons and on Wednesday May 17 the doors of the Neighborhood Club will open at 11 o'clock, with a great variety of articles for sale, as well as luncheon and tea. The proceeds will go to the regular scholarship fund and to the 75th anniversary fund gift to the college this June. Mrs. Edward Blake is general chairman, with Miss Alma Howard as treasurer and Mrs. Arthur Williams handling publicity. Mrs. Alfred Stafford of Dwindha Road, Waban, is president of the club.

Plans for Tea Are Completed by Club

The Committee on Harbors and Public Lands recently held a hearing on the Governor's proposal to establish a state recreation centers and historical sites. Representative George E. Rawson opposed this bill at the hearing because he believed the state should not be given this power. Many Newton citizens have summer homes along the coast, particularly at Duxbury, which would be menaced by the passage of this bill.

There are also a number of historic shrines now managed by non-profit associations, such as those at Concord and Lexington, which might also be placed in jeopardy.

Large Number of Parents Visit Open House at Warren

Open house at the Levi F. Warren Junior High School, West Newton, last Friday night, attracted almost 1,000 parents who visited academic class rooms and viewed work done by pupils.

A presentation during the evening of "Fashion Review of 1950," was staged by about one hundred girls of the home economics classes. All garments worn in the program had been made by the girls themselves.

A chorus of sixteen girls furnished the musical background throughout the evening.

The Day Varsity baseball team started its league season by defeating the Bigelow Varsity by a score of 10-0. Anthony Coletti pitched a fine hit for Day and allowed only two walks, striking out twelve Bigelow players. Willard Hammill led the batters with three out of three and Coletti was close behind with two hits out of three appearances at the plate. Everyone who saw action did well, with Don Veniot stealing home with the bases loaded. Bigelow meanwhile got some measure of revenge as the Bigelow Junior Varsity took the measure of the Day Jayvees by an 11-4 score. Next Friday both teams journey to Wellesley where they hope to add to their laurels.

The Intramural schedule is to get under way on Monday, May 9th under the supervision of Mr. Donald MacKinnon. Room 29 under Captain Bill Kneeland will meet Room 10 led by Captain Francis MacDonald; Room 20 will play Room 11 to start the eighth grade schedule.

Carolyn Jubes of Grade Nine has just been awarded a $50 scholarship from the All Newton Music School for "outstanding talent, greatest cooperation, and ability to work." Carolyn has always been generous with her talents in playing with the various musical organizations in the school and her friends are delighted that her efforts have received well deserved recognition.

During the vacation Suzanne Roberts visited Washington and last week she gave such an interesting talk in class about her trip that she was invited to repeat her talk to the school in the weekly News Broadcast over WDAY.

All Protestant Church women who believe in united service are invited to participate in the Ecumenical Register. This is a special movement sponsored by the United Council of Church Women which gives opportunity to each individual woman to register her name and give one dollar in token of her desire for Christian unity and faith in its power in this troubled world.

The funds will be used to implement the work of the United Council as it assumes new responsibilities when it becomes late this year the Women's Department of the new National Council of Churches of Christ in the United States. Since its founding in 1941, the United Council has rendered notable service in World Missions, World Relations, and Social Relations, with outstanding success in the area of Race Relations.

Thursday, May 18 is registration day and the following places will be open for that purpose from a.m. to 2 p.m.: Auburndale, Branch Library, Auburndale st.; Newton, Eliot Church, Center street; Newton Centre, Methodist Church, Langley road; Newton Highlands, Congregational Church, Lincoln street; Newtonville, Methodist Church, Walnut street; West Newton, Unitarian Church, Washington street; Waban, Union Church, Collins road.

The project calls for the resurfacing of Chestnut street, from Moffat road, Waban, to Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls; and from Winter street, Upper Falls to Oak street; Oak street from Chestnut street to Needham street, and Chestnut street, from Boylston street to Winter street.

Three Newton women are officers of the Massachusetts Council of Church Women: Mrs. Allan Knight Chalmers, president; Mrs. Jean Dummer, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. David McKeith, state chairman of the Ecumenical Register. Mrs. Howard M. LeSourd serves on the National Board of the United Council.

The Newton Council of Church Women will hold its annual meeting Monday, May 22, at 2:30 p.m. in the Newton Methodist Church on Center street. Mrs. Louis A. Dole, president of the Council of Church Women in Bath, Me., will speak on the subject: "Our Daily Bread." All who wish to attend are cordially welcome.

Senator Saltonstall Speaker At Oak Hill Dedication Sunday

SENATOR SALTONSTALL

Opposes Bill To Provide Insurance

Last week the Committee on Labor and Industries heard a bill at the State House to establish a monopolistic state fund to provide cash sickness insurance for workers. Representative George E. Rawson opposed the bill on the grounds, first, that there is no public demand for this legislation; second, no legislation is needed because the overwhelming majority of employees are now covered and all can be covered by such insurance provided by insurance companies, stock, mutual and non-agency, all carefully regulated by the State insurance commissioner. His third and most important reason is that this proposal may well be the entering wedge to a system of state socialism here.

He told the committee that in 1906 the Fabian socialists mapped out a blue print for making

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, dedication ceremonies of Oak Hill Park will officially start with a parade getting under way promptly at that time. Senator Leverett Saltonstall will be the principal speaker.

Chairman Roy S. Edwards of the dedication committee stressed the fact that this is the first time in the history of Newton that an entire district will be officially brought into the community and stated, "the people of Oak Hill Park are looking to this greeting. Many of the Oak Hill Park residents are new to the city and they especially will be looking forward to this day when they will have the opportunity to meet people from other parts of the Garden City."

Dedication exercises Sunday will be conducted at the parking area and will start immediately after the parade arrives at the scene. In addition to Senator Saltonstall, Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood and other civic officials will give brief remarks.

Bishop Dallas Confirms Class at Auburndale

The Rt. Rev. John T. Dallas, retired Bishop of New Hampshire, Auburndale, Sunday to confirm a class of 30 adults who were presented by the rector, the Rev. Richard P. McClintock. Bishop Dallas was filling in for the Rt. Rev. Raymond Heron, Suffragan Bishop of the Episcopalian Diocese of Massachusetts, who is recovering from a recent operation. The substitution was a happy one as Bishop Dallas was Mr. McClintock's rector during his college years and his Bishop during his New Hampshire pastorate. Presented in the class for confirmation were three members who had been classmates of the rector at Dartmouth College.

In a preface to his sermon, Bishop Dallas spoke highly of Mr. McClintock's ministry and congratulated the parish on having him as its rector and the community on having the benefit of his broadness and ability. The Bishop said in part, "It has been a thrill to me to watch your rector since I have known him for almost thirty years as he started as a boy at Dartmouth College. He has grown through the years and his ministry has been most effective both in New Hampshire and here in Newton. The size and the maturity of this class is witness to the effort and the thoroughness of his work. I am proud of him as a minister and I congratulate him on the vitality of his ministry and the apparent life of this parish!"

"Stand up and be counted" was the theme of the Bishop's sermon in which he pointed out that real loyalty to Christ and his church was the most important bulwark against the enemy of our day. He pointed out that there are those who laugh at the step this class is taking today, there are those who take lightly

Final returns show that Newton contributed 75 percent of its quota in the annual Easter Seal drive, it was reported by area treasurer Miss Ruth Burns.

The statewide total stands at $199,389.91, or 73 percent of the $275,000 goal set by the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped, but Parker Trowbridge, president of the Society, anticipates that even though treasurers have submitted their final reports, the figure will still hit $204,000, which the amount attained in 1949.

Death Takes Former Mayor Edwin Childs

Newton citizens were saddened to learn of the death early Wednesday morning of beloved former Mayor Edwin O. Childs at his home, 340 California street, Newton. He died sometime during the night in his sleep.

He had been active right up to the time of his death as a practising attorney.

A native of Newton, born here in 1876, Mr. Childs endeared himself to everyone and his kindness and understanding gained thousands of friends for him throughout his life.

Mr. Childs served the city of Newton capably and well for a longer period as mayor than any other man. He was mayor of the city for twenty years, from 1914 to 1929 and from 1930 to 1939. His administrations were marked by honesty, efficiency and economy, and he did perhaps more than any other individual to bring Newton to the forefront as an ideal municipality.

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, in learning of former Mayor Childs' death, said: "The city is saddened by the sudden death of former Mayor Edwin O. Childs. Having served the city 20 years, Mr. Childs had a friendly acquaintance with thousands among whom his death will be keenly felt."

In addition to serving Newton as mayor for 20 years Mr. Childs also was a member of the board of health; had served as a County Commissioner and had been a member of the Governor's Committee to study effects of alcoholism.

He took a keen and active interest in youth activities in Newton and was always interested in their welfare.

The former Mayor is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mildred R. Childs; a son, Edwin O. Childs, Jr., 43 Cook street, Newton; a daughter, Mrs. James (Kathleen) (Continued on Page 2)

Study Reveals The Need For Care Of Older People Here

As a result of a decision last Fall by the Newton Community Council to secure an over-all picture of the facilities available for aged people in Newton and the gaps that need to be filled, a study and report written by Alice B. Huling, Research Assistant for the United Community Services of Metropolitan, Boston, reveals that based on the 1940 Federal Census which showed a population of 69,873 persons in Newton, 12,643 or 18.2 percent of the total were over 55 years of age. The range in different sections of the city ran from 16.7 to 19.7 percent with Newton having the largest proportion of older people and West Newton the smallest number. Newton also ranked highest in number of persons of the so-called "golden age" group of 65 years of age and over and Newton Centre came next in number.

If these figures of 1940 were to be taken as a basis of an average increase since then, the estimated total population of Newton today would be 76,651 persons, 7,033 of whom are 65 years of age or more.

The distribution of persons 55 years of age or older by districts, showed the following conclusions:

Population	Number	P.C. of Total
Newton	12,665	2,490 19.7
Newtonville	12,296	2,199 17.9
West Newton	10,417	1,741 16.7
Auburndale and Lower Falls	6,943	1,380 19.6
Upper Falls, Highlands and Waban	14,728	2,485 16.8
Centre and Chestnut Hill	12,824	2,368 18.4

The report, a most comprehensive survey, goes on to state:

Housing

In an attempt to get an idea of the way the older people of Newton are living today, some exploration was made in the report of the police listing of 1949. A count was made of the men and women of 60-64 years and those of 65 years and over in Wards 1 and 2. Record was made whether they were living with persons of the same name, in the hope that it would provide an indication to what extent these older citizens were living with relatives. It can be regarded, at best, only as an indication, as this method would fail to show those living with married daughters who are as likely to be caring for dependent parents as sons and unmarried daughters. The results showed that in Ward 1, 77.8 per cent of the men over 65 years of age and 57 per cent of the women of the same age group were living with persons of the same name.

The corresponding proportions for Wards 2 were 80.3 per cent for men and 52.9 per cent for women. The detail is given below.

	Total	Percent of those
Number living	Ward 1	Ward 2	living with relatives
Men	265	528	80.3
65 yrs. & over	152	250	52.9
Women	421	766	88.4
65 yrs. & over	162	373	65.4

In these two wards the total number of women of 55 years and over was 14 times the number of men. However 82.3 per cent of the men and 58.4 per cent of the women were living with persons of the same name. The longer life expectancy of women may be a factor here. However such figures as these give point to the predominance of accommodations for women rather than men in the incorporated homes for the aged.

Newton has 4 incorporated homes for the aged, the Baptist Home for the Aged, the Stone Institute and Newton Home for the Aged, St. Raphael's Hall of the Catholic Guild for the Blind, and the Home of the Swedish Charitable Association. In addition, the Newton City Infirmary has 13 residents of over 65 years of age.

The Baptist Home of Massachusetts, 66 Commonwealth Avenue, accepts for life care both men and women over 65 years of age who are members of Baptist Churches in Massachusetts, upon payment of an admission fee of $500 and assignment of property. The Home has a capacity of 54 and a waiting list of 83. Four of the present family of the Home are former residents of Newton, and only 1 of the applicants on the waiting list. Members of the home come and go freely, following their own hobbies, and make use of book deposits from the public library. Religious services are held every week and the members of the group make contributions of money and articles they have made for benevolences outside the home. At present there is only one male resident. While there is no infirmary, residents who need nursing care are moved into single rooms in a wing where they are under the care of the nurses.

The Stone Institute and Newton Home for the Aged, 277 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, has a capacity of 25 which is full at present with a waiting list of 34. The board has plans drawn for the addition of another wing which would double the capacity and at the same time provide a 5 room infirmary. As yet, there are not sufficient funds to build this addition and at the same time keep the necessary reserve for emergencies. For the last two years there has been an annual deficit. Under the present admission plan, a woman of 65 who is a resident of Newton is eligible, upon payment of an admission fee of $250 and assignment of property, with the guarantee of life care. All of the residents at present are over 70 years of age and some are 90. Several are receiving nursing care in their rooms by two daytime nurses and one at night. Although the members of the home family are free to come and go, most of them are inclined to remain at the home and enjoy the occasional entertainments which are brought to them. Church services are held twice a month.

St. Raphael's Hall, 770 Center street, is conducted by 6 Roman Catholic Sisters under the auspices of the Catholic Guild for the Blind and is a boarding home for 18 women of 65 years come. If such apartments, of 2 stories and not more than 20 apartments to a unit, were situated within easy reach of the stores, they might meet the needs of the increasing number of people past middle life who are anxious to move from their larger single residences after their children have established family units of their own and the parents are ready for retirement. There is a strong desire among the people of Newton to preserve the residential nature of the city. The Chamber of Commerce has offered a plan for the adaptation of large residences to accommodate 2 or 3 families, without changing the exterior of the property. It includes a plan of licensing with restrictions as to safety and provision for care in keeping up the property.

The Department of Public Welfare reports that a considerable number of its beneficiaries are living in the homes of relatives or friends who are not legally liable for their support, under conditions which are similar to those seen in the report. When dissatisfaction arises, the workers of that department assist in making new arrangements. There is no central registry of boarding facilities.

unusual in that one room containing about twelve arrangements will use available Spring foliage as its material while another room will have an equal number of arrangements composed of all white flowers with foliage, these arrangements to be made by residents of Newtonville and club members.

Mrs. Charles P. Frail and Mrs. Karl H. Ways are chairmen of the Spring Foliage Class and Mrs. Harold G. Hood and Mrs. Wm. Alfred Warren are chairmen of the White Flower Class.

Neighboring Garden Clubs have been invited to enter the Show with exhibition of arrangements to be placed in the center of the Reading Room tables. These will be exceptionally beautiful and may be viewed from all sides. Chairmen: Mrs. Paul E. Dutelle and Mrs. Richard Moerschner.

The many visitors to the Flower Show will not want to miss the interesting features displayed on the lower floor of the Library. Here will be the Specimen Flowers grown by the exhibitor. Any Newtonville resident may enter his choice blossoms in this exhibit. Mrs. Walter Phillips is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Clifford O. Mooney, chairman of lilacs; Mrs. James S. Mansfield, chairman of tulips, and Mrs. Gustav A. Hagen, chairman of iris.

A group of flower arrangements for novices, open to all who have never taken a blue ribbon, will also be displayed on the lower floor and these arrangements will be gay in shades of pink and red. Chairmen: Mrs. Arthur D. Quimby and Mrs. Frank M. Simmons.

A most unusual feature of the Show will be the Children's Exhibit. This will be a suitable arrangement for teacher's desk and may include wild flowers not on the conservation list. It is open to pupils of the Horace Mann School, Newtonville, in grades one to six. Chairman, Mrs. Charles A. Haney.

In the lovely garden in the rear of the library, which is a civic project of the Newtonville Garden Club whose efforts and money make it possible, tea will be served under the supervision of the club president, Mrs. C. Edgar Thring and Mrs. Josephine Dudley, from three to five-thirty p.m.

This is the first time in a number of years that the Newtonville community has had its own Flower Show—and the first time it has been held in the Library where it is possible to have it open to all, free of charge.

General chairman of the entire Flower Show is Mrs. Frank A. Wightman who is well known for her outstanding flower arrangements and interest in Garden Clubs. She is being ably assisted by a committee consisting of Mesdames Charles W. Peterson and Royal Parkinson, staging; Mrs. Charles E. Beatty, hospitality; Mrs. Walter S. Adams, judging; Mrs. Howard C. Thomas, clerk; Mrs. Roger Wheeler, dismantling; Miss Hazel Hammond, garden; Mrs. C. Edgar Thring and Mrs. Josephine Dudley, tea, and Mrs. Wm. Alfred Warren, publicity.

The radio was supposed to put the record companies out of business, but if it weren't for records, half of the radio stations would be silent a good part of the time.

At present the city is sponsoring a study of zoning which is being conducted by the Division of City Planning of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to determine the possibility of rezoning sections of the city for multiple housing of the garden type for persons of moderate in-

Scrappy Cambridge Latin Nine Wallops Newton by 14-9 Score

By JOE MCGAFFIGAN

A scrappy Cambridge Latin nine came from behind twice to wallop Newton High 14-9 at the Cantabs' home field on Friday, May 12. The unexpected defeat drops Newton into a second place tie with Arlington High, who also bowed, behind Watertown High. Newton took a 9-8 lead in the top of the eighth on Boston Keyho's long two run homer, but in the last of the eighth the Latins rallied for six big runs to put the game on ice.

The Tigers outhit Cambridge 9-7, but the Cantabs made their hits count. Freddy Dauten and Joe Landry collected two hits apiece for the upset Tigers. Lanky Al Phinney's sensational hitting streak of seven consecutive games was finally stopped by two Cambridge hurlers. Al did collect three hits, however. In a vain effort to salvage the contest Coach Howard Fergerson used six pitchers; starting with Bob Gilbert, then Bob Schlossberg, Ron Rufo, his two aces Gib Studley and Long John Thomas, and finished with rightfielder Fred Dauten.

Cambridge tallied single tallies in the second and third, but Freddy Dauten's triple with the bases loaded in the fourth gave Newton a temporary 3-2 lead. But the Cantabs came roaring back in the last of the fourth to score six times and drive hurler Bob Schlossberg from the mound.

A walk, an error and a two run double to center by Pete Santucci made it 8-5 in the top of the fifth. In the seventh, a double by catcher Joe Landry, two walks, and an error by Ed Asayle gave the Tigers two more runs. Keyho's timely two run home run came in the next inning, but the Latins tripled that output with a six run barrage in the bottom of the eighth inning against Studley, Thomas, and Dauten.

Newtonville Man Boasts Eleven Straight Wins as King of the Softball Pitchers Hereabouts

Cecil B. Henry is a long-legged, long-armed traveling salesman who makes his home with his family at 113 Austin street, Newtonville. That is, he's a salesman when there isn't a softball game within reach.

Whenever he gets a call from the manager of the Cochituate Motors club, he tosses that brief case in the corner, kisses his wife Florence and his youngsters Bobby, Stevie and Elaine, and is off to windmill another win.

Henry has pitched all over New England since his arrival from Riverside, California five years ago. New England softball batters wish he had stayed on the Coast, the West Coast that is. With that windmill windup, plus a blazer, raise, drop, and changeup, he's just about untouchable. His record of 19 strikeouts in a seven-inning game isn't bad.

The big fellow, who learned his stuff with the 501st Combat Engineers team in France, is heped over this softball game. He'd rather talk of its growth and possibilities than about his own skill.

While "Hank's" boys from Cochituate are in the Framingham league, they travel all through New England and Cecil challenges, "We'll play anybody, anytime, anywhere." Who wouldn't with Henry and companion ace Jack Fultz to do the pitching?

As the Ferris Fain of the Newton Twi-League, Jack McEvoy would say, "Just close your eyes and swing when Henry's out there. You're not going to see it anyhow."

O. L. Beats St. Mary's 3-1 In One Man Show by Pettee

Our Lady's made it two straight against arch-rival St. Mary's of Waltham last Thursday afternoon, when rugged George Pettee on the mound, pitched them to a neat 3-1 victory at Waltham, while limiting enemy batters to only two hits. A similar feat was turned in the previous Sunday, giving up just two hits and winning 5-1.

Pettee joined in the hitting department also, keeping his average up with three hits, one a double, and driving in two runs, to make the day complete. Other big guns in the Our Lady's assault were Luke Fannon with a brace of hits, and Tom Dooley, Bill McCarthy, and Bill Lawn, who each collected singles.

Keeping St. Mary's at bay for seven innings, while coming out with a fine record of 14 strikeouts, Pettee allowed a run to score in the eighth, and that was when two errors were committed by his field support.

Our Lady's scored single digits in the second, third, and fifth innings. In the second with two down, Tom Dooley singled to center, then was pushed along on a walk to Bill McCarthy. Dooley registered when the first baseman erred on a throw from third on Lawn's grounder.

Bill Cronin drew a walk in the third frame, then capitalized on his speed to steal second. Pettee, always a danger at the plate, lashed a double to center, scoring Cronin easily from second. Pettee drove in the local's last run in the fifth when he singled to left center scoring Kevin Burns, who reached second on a bad throw to first from shortstop Dick Drew.

Big George found himself in not water in the fourth when a hit, a base on balls, and a misjudged fly ball loaded the bases. Ignoring the dangerous situation completely, Pettee calmly worked ed on the batters fanning, Joe Tebeau, letting Bill O'Brien fly out to left, and getting Dick Drew on three strikes.

Newton Team Takes Close 5-4 Verdict From Watertown High

By JOE MCGAFFIGAN

Newton High's colorful baseball team moved into a first place tie in the Suburban League as a result of a close 5-4 verdict over a previously undefeated Watertown High nine at Dickinson Field last Thursday. The Tigers share the top slot in the league standings with Arlington High, who owns a close decision over Coach Howard Fergerson's classy nine. Both clubs have five wins in six starts while Watertown with four victories in five outings is in the runnerup spot.

Pitchers John Thomas and Bob Gilbert combined with rightfielder Freddy Dauten and first baseman Al Phinney to upset the favored Watertown nine. Although Thomas was charged with all Watertown's hits and runs, he pitched very well, fanning twelve. Gilbert came in with the score knotted 4-4 in the top of the ninth with two on and no outs. He then retired the next three batters without the ball leaving the infield.

Dauten collected two hits, one the game-winning blow in the last of the ninth while lanky Al Phinney, hitting in his seventh consecutive game, batted in three runs with his two safeties.

The Tigers drew first blood in the last half of the first. After two outs, Buster Keyho, Joe Landry, and Phinney singled for one run. In the fifth after two walks and an error by third base man Bob Charsoodian, Phinney lashed a single to center, tallying Thomas and Dauten. Pete Santucci walked to open the sixth, went to third when Charsoodian threw wild on Thomas' attempt at sacrifice and registered Newton's fourth marker when Charsoodian fell after making a nice stop on Dauten's grounder.

Up until the seventh Thomas allowed only three bingles while tossing goose-eggs at the Arsenal Towners. In the seventh he was nicked for three big runs. Walks sandwiched around John Zona's long triple and Renzi's double accounted for the visitor's runs.

Long John struck out the side in the eighth but in the ninth he had to be relieved by Gilbert after Keyho's low throw to first and singles by Charsoodian and McElroy tallied the fourth and tying run. Gilbert, appearing in only his second contest of the present campaign, looked like he had the game in hand.

Thomas struck out the first two batters facing him in the ninth and then Landry made a circus catch while running up a steep embankment on Dolan's foul fly.

Everyone in the Newton lineup collected at least one hit except the pitchers. Keyho and Santucci were credited with three hits apiece, and Dauten, Landry, Phinney, Boole and Fithian collected two singles apiece and Rycroft bashed out a singleton.

Barty Boole has now hit safely in the five games he has played. He missed three games due to a sprained wrist.

Members to Attend 125th Anniversary Week Meeting

Seven delegates and seven alternates, elected by the First Unitarian Society in Newton, will represent the West Newton Unitarian Church at the 125th Anniversary Week of the American Unitarian Association, to be held in Boston beginning Sunday through Friday, May 26.

The delegates are Miss Margaret S. Ball, Mrs. George Ballard, Mrs. Morton W. Haddock, Mrs. Robert H. Loomis, Miss Lilley-Owen Smith, Willard B. Weissblatt and E. Webster Whorf.

Alternate delegates include Miss Eleanor Hall, Mrs. Kathryn M. Holgate, Mrs. David N. Hume, Mrs. Leonard A. Monzett, Joseph C. Skinner, Mrs. Willard B. Weissblatt and William L. Tisdel.

The anniversary sermon opening the May meetings will be preached at Sunday evening, May 21, at Arlington St. Church by Rev. H. Stewart Carter, of Cambridge, England, president of the International Association for Liberal Christianity and Religious Freedom.

Always mindful of Newton's needs, he has fought for years to get the State to take Route 128 out of Newton on the ground that it is a nuisance, a traffic hazard and a damage to property. The fight is now won and the work on the new relocated highway is going on.

Rep. Rawson was educated in the public schools of Holliston, his native town. He was graduated from Amherst College in 1908, magna cum laude, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He has been secretary of his class since 1923. He is also a life trustee of the Amherst Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, of which he is a member. He has spent his life in the insurance business, and is a member of the Boston Life Underwriters Association and the National Association of Life Underwriters. He serves as moderator of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton and is a trustee of Stone Institute and Home for Aged People.

Dr. Thomas J. Sherwood, Dean of Engineering, M.I.T., will be the guest speaker. There will be discussions on important civic matters of local, State and national interest. Participating will be delegates from 18 local Jaycee Chapters in Massachusetts as well as guests from other New England Chapters and National Jaycee officers.

Election of officers will follow the luncheon and business meeting. Plans for participation in the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce Convention in Chicago will also be discussed.

The program will conclude with a banquet and dance at the Hotel Beaconsfield in Brookline.

An Act Which Should Pass

There are more than 1,750,000 children of school age throughout the United States who are being denied opportunities for education because their physical handicaps keep them from regular school classes.

These children require education, but they are unable to obtain it because there is no special education program, or an inadequate program, in their communities.

At present, there is no Federal-State program for the education of physically handicapped children. There are programs for surgery, hospitalization, medical care and treatment of crippled children. Vocational training is provided for the handicapped when they reach 17 or 18 years of age. But the important educational years are between the ages of 5 and 17.

To fill this gap in services for the handicapped, the Physically Handicapped Children's Education Act of 1950 was introduced last February in both the Senate (S. 3102) and the House of Representatives (H.R. 7396). There will be sub-committee hearings on the bill within the next several weeks and it is hoped floor action will be taken before Congress adjourns.

The Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped is seeking support for this measure to help handicapped children in Massachusetts. It is asking citizens of Massachusetts to write immediately to their Senators and Congressmen to enlist their aid in support of the bill.

Physically handicapped children who will be benefitted by this legislation are the crippled (including the cerebral palsied), the blind, partially seeing, deaf, hard of hearing, defective in speech, tuberculosis, epileptic, cardiopathic or otherwise physically handicapped to such an extent that they require special services for their education.

In its declaration of policy, the Physically Handicapped Children's Act of 1950 states that it shall be the national policy that "no crippled or otherwise physically handicapped child in the United States shall come to adult life without the opportunity for an education adapted to his needs."

Temed For Defense

This nation will mark its first observance of Armed Forces Day this Saturday, a day set aside by the President and the Secretary of Defense as a special tribute to the men and women who have served and are serving in the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the Marine Corps and the Coast Guard.

The observance will carry many of the identifying marks of previous days set to honor the individual services. There will be parades, speeches, and air shows. "Open House" will be held at military and naval installations ashore, and aboard ships of the Navy in ports along the New England coast.

This first Armed Forces Day is designed to demonstrate to the taxpayers of America that the services are "Temed For Defense." Plans for all local observances of Armed Forces Day have been worked up by committees composed of representatives of all the Armed Services, and civilian civic groups.

Ever since unification became the law of the land, the services have been engaged in joint maneuvers. Fleet exercises at sea have included representation from the Army, Air Force and Marine Corps. The Army likewise has had representation from sister services in their exercises.

In the only joint operation in peace-time under emergency conditions, the Air Force and the Navy's air arm combined to beat a potential enemy at their own game by breaking the Berlin blockade with the "Operation Vittals" Airlift.

Armed Forces Day, in addition to giving the people of the United States a better understanding of their fighting forces, is also granting each serviceman and woman the opportunity for self-appraisal in the light of his or her responsibility as a member of the nation's defense team—the unified Armed Forces of the United States. If you have the opportunity, be sure to visit your nearest military or naval installation during Armed Forces Week. You'll find the services in fact and in spirit, "Temed for Defense."

After Three Years

Three years ago, Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party in the United States, went to Washington. He was called there to testify before a congressional committee. He had no intention of answering the committee's questions. Instead, he attempted to read a long harangue based on the now long-recognized double-talk of his kind.

He was duly convicted of contempt. His appeals were carried to the highest court in the land. His counsel exhausted every possible legal avenue to save him from the one-year sentence imposed upon him. Last week, the U. S. Court of Appeals directed that he begin serving that sentence forthwith. Could three years conceivably elapse between sentence and its execution for a defendant appearing before one of Premier Stalin's "people's courts?" Even Mr. Dennis knows that could not happen behind the Iron Curtain.

Current Comments

President Truman's Tour Has Failed as a Political Mission . . . Trip Certainly Not Necessary to Give People the "Facts" . . . Fantastic "Amerasia" Case Calls for Complete Investigation . . .

As a political expedition it appears from this distance that President Truman's "non-political" tour across the country fell a good deal short of being a spectacular success.

Certainly, there has been nothing in any of the despatches to indicate that the President fired the public imagination in anything approaching the same manner as in 1948 when he was the dogged little man fighting courageously against seemingly hopeless odds.

Mr. Truman may have built some goodwill for himself and the Democratic party by letting the people see him and hear him, but as a political mission it's doubtful that his trip accomplished very much.

The one element missing this time which counted so heavily in the President's favor back in the autumn of 1948 was public sympathy.

A year and a half ago, you could sense that most of the people stretched out before President Truman as he delivered his back-platform speeches felt that he was one of them and that he was making their fight.

They obviously didn't believe he was going to win, but they wanted to let him know that if he was going down they were going down with him. He was a sort of symbol of the plain man who wouldn't admit he was beaten and just kept on fighting. So many people decided to go down with him that he didn't go down at all.

It was nothing like that this time. You had the feeling last week that Mr. Truman was setting up windmills to battle. He devoted a good part of his speeches to telling the people he was going to give them the facts and much less time actually to giving them any real facts.

Of course, it's nothing but sheer nonsense when the President of the United States implies that the only way he can get the facts home to the people is to go out among them and tell them face to face.

That's so clearly a play for sympathy that it almost insults the intelligence of the persons at whom it is directed.

No President, Democrat or, Republican, has any trouble getting his story to the people. There are few, if any, daily newspapers which do not report what he says or does. If he makes a speech or a statement, they usually publish it in full.

Columnists and editorial writers may differ with the President. They may criticize and take issue with him. But it's preposterous even to suggest that any newspaper suppresses news concerning him.

The vast majority of the daily newspapers of the country get their news about the President from the Associated Press. Its stories, written for Democratic, Republican and independent papers alike, invariably are handled objectively, with their main purpose the presentation of the news and the facts.

As a matter of common sense, the newspaper that failed to give the people the news about the man at the head of their government wouldn't be in business very long.

Mr. Truman may have been groping for an excuse to explain why he made the trip, but he didn't come up with a very good one.

It will be an amazing thing if the Senate investigating committee fails to heed the demands by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and others that it conduct a careful and thorough probe of the weird and fantastic Amerasia case.

Enough facts have been outlined concerning this astonishing case to form a baffling web of intrigue, involving the theft of top secret documents during wartime and then an apparent hushing-up of the entire matter.

The more deeply one delves into the case, the more bewildered one becomes. Scores of top-secret government documents were found in the New York office of a small and obscure magazine called Amerasia.

Apparently, the theft of the important documents, dealing mostly with China and the Far East, created a sensation in high government circles at the time. But from the manner in which the case subsequently was prosecuted in court it would seem that it was considered a harmless lark.

There may have been some sound reason why the Department of Justice did not present all the evidence in court against those implicated, and there may be some good reason why the case was disposed of in a few minutes on a Saturday morning. But it is going to be very difficult to convince anyone that this is so unless there is a full-dress investigation of the entire affair with all the facts made public.

It is an astonishing thing that top-secret documents could be taken from army intelligence, navy intelligence, the State Department, the OSS and the Office of Censorship and still have no one go to jail and evidently have no serious effort made by the Department of Justice to send anyone to jail.

One person was fined $2500 and another $500 and that was the only punishment meted out. A foreign service officer in the State Department, who had been arrested, was reinstated in his job and assigned to more important duties. The government requested that charges against a navy officer be dismissed.

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin has not produced much in the way of real facts to support his allegations of Communist infiltration into the State Department. But the Amerasia case is an entirely different proposition.

There is a baffling air of mystery and intrigue around it to warrant a public demand for a thorough airing of all the facts and circumstances, and any Senators, whether Democrat or Republican, who seek to block efforts to get to the bottom of the strange story, are likely to have a hard time justifying their position.

Know Your City Government

Registrars of Voters

By WILLIAM DOHERTY, Chairman

Another in a series of feature articles presented by the Graphic as a public service to better acquaint the citizens of Newton with their government.

Born in Watertown, Massachusetts, Mr. Doherty has lived in Newton 53 years. From 1905 to 1910 he was a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen, and served as Vice President of the Aldermanic Board in 1910. In 1917 Mr. Doherty first became a member of the Board of Registrars of Voters, and has served continuously on that Board ever since, having acted as Chairman since January 15, 1947, succeeding Harold F. Young in that position.

Being as civic minded as he is, it is only natural that Mr. Doherty served as a member of Mayor Week's Relief Committee, which was a predecessor of the present Community Chest, during the depression. He was an incorporator and member of the first Board of Directors of the Newton Community Chest.

During World War I Mr. Doherty was District Chairman of all Drives for Bond Sales and such. World War II found him as a member of Draft Board No. 112 for 3½ years.

Q. You have been a member of the Newton Board of Registrars for over 30 years?

Yes. On April first just passed I completed 33 years of service on this Board, having first been appointed March 3, 1917 by former Mayor Edwin O. Childs, and have since been re-appointed 11 times by four different Mayors.

Q. You certainly have a record to be proud of, Mr. Doherty. Will you tell us something about the Board of Registrars of Voters? How many members does it have, who are they and what are their duties?

According to provisions of the law, membership on this Board must consist of four members, equally divided, according to enrollment in the dominant political parties, so that the Board now and for many years past has consisted of two Republicans and two Democrats.

Appointments to this Board are made by the Mayor and are subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen, and are for terms of three years. One member of the Board must be the City Clerk. The duties of the Board are somewhat diversified in that they have charge of registration of new voters, the selection of names for the jury list and also supervision of the annual listing by the Police Department of all male and female residents of Newton who are 20 years old or over. The annual listing was formerly handled by the Board of Assessors.

We also have charge of recounting of votes in disputed elections—the actual counting of these ballots and decisions on disputed ballots must be made personally by members of the Board.

In a City-wide recount this is a very tedious and exacting job, especially when you consider that during the Count one or more representatives of Contending Candidates stand over the shoulders of the Registrars and frequently interrupt the Count for the purpose of inspecting certain ballots and often entering into an argument as to which Candidate is entitled to have a particular ballot counted in his favor or whether the ballot should be counted as a blank.

In all such cases each member personally inspects the disputed ballot, in each case resorting to all of the methods commonly used to correctly determine the intention of the voter and then renders his decision. A vote is then taken by the four members of the Board, and when the vote is not unanimous, the majority vote governs.

In cases where candidates representative is not in agreement with the Board's decision he has the privilege of entering a protest. In such cases the Board makes a record of such protest to be available in case further action is subsequently taken by the Contending Candidate through an appeal to the Board or by court action.

As previously stated, the recounting job is very tedious, but on the other hand, it gives the counter an excellent opportunity to study human nature by observing the characteristics of the voter.

Most ballots are executed in a most intelligent manner, yet it is surprising how many voters either through carelessness or ignorance fail to mark their ballots properly.

Q. What advise would you give voters in making out their ballots?

The results in some elections could easily be changed if all voters would mark their choices on the ballot from top to bottom. Take for example a ballot showing the names of twenty or more candidates seeking election. It is not uncommon to find ballots where the voter has placed a cross against the names of only three or four candidates and in all too many cases only against the name of one candidate. This, of course, results in many blanks, and as previously stated, could, if properly marked, affect the election results in some cases.

Q. Your Board also makes up Jury Lists?

The selection of names for jury duty is made by the Board of Registrars, subject to a later check by the Police Department as a prevention against choice of people with serious court records or for other good reasons which the Police Department may have.

The names selected are taken from the lists compiled by the Police Department each year in their canvass of residents of this City on January first.

There are now 26 voting precincts in Newton. Four more precincts are to be added in 1950. Police listings are printed according to precincts and each Registrar is assigned a certain number of precinct lists from which he selects names for jury duty.

Persons of advanced age, those with professional occupations and Federal, State and City officials are usually exempt from service.

The names selected by the Board and approved by the Police Department are sent to our Clerk who then notifies each person selected by sending him a printed form containing a list of questions which must be answered by selectee, and form then signed and returned to the City Clerk.

Any selectee who feels that he has good reasons for not being drawn for jury duty may appear before the Board and state his reasons. If the Board is satisfied with the reasons given, they may excuse him from service.

Those whose protests do not satisfy the Board together with those who made no protest are added to the jury list.

The chances of being drawn for jury duty are about one in forty. After serving as a juror the citizen may not be drawn again for at least three years.

The jury list when approved and printed is cut into sections, each containing name and address of each person approved for jury duty. These names are placed in a revolving box and when the court makes requisition for names for jury duty, a member of the Board of Aldermen at a regularly called meeting of that Board is selected to draw from above described box as many printed names as the requisition calls for. Under this system there is absolutely no opportunity for favoritism.

Q. Now to come down to the actual Registration of Voters.

How is that done?

The registration of new voters is a very serious duty. In granting any of our citizens the privilege of voting in elections held in our City the Registrars at all times must exercise extreme care and caution as well as good judgment in the performance of their duties.

According to law any qualified citizen may become a voter. To be qualified the applicant must be a citizen of the United States either by birth or by naturalization, and 21 years old or over, he or she must be able to read and write. A person who has been deprived of citizenship rights by court order or for any other lawful reason cannot become a voter.

The reading test requires the applicant to read five lines of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts printed on a card selected by applicant from a revolving box located on the Registrar's desk. The applicant is sworn to answer all questions truthfully. Questions consist of applicant's age, where born, whether married or single, husband's or wife's name if married, also date of marriage, occupation and where employed.

If foreign born, the applicant must produce naturalization papers, the particulars of which are noted on the permanent record and is then stamped and dated with the official stamp of the Board of Registrars.

Q. What if a person cannot produce his citizenship paper?

If the applicant cannot produce his citizenship paper and claims to have been previously registered elsewhere, he must produce a certificate from the Board of Registrars or Election Commission of the town or city where he previously registered to prove his claim, or he must produce a certified copy of his citizenship paper from the court where he was naturalized. Failure to produce either of these documents deprives applicant of the privilege of registering.

Proof of ability to write is shown when applicant signs the permanent registration record after giving satisfactory answers to all questions asked by the Registrars.

After once registering it is not necessary to re-register while registrant remains a resident of the city and at the same address given at time of registration.

With the passage of equal suffrage law women were first permitted to vote on same basis as men in the election November 2, 1920.

Heart Examination and Chest X-ray Offered 2500 Raytheon Employees

A free heart examination and chest X-ray are being offered to each of the 2,500 employees of the Raytheon Company on Chapel Dr., Newton, starting this week, it has been announced by Ernest M. Morris, M.D., Newton's director of public health. This is the first time that such a combined screening program has been presented to a large industry in this part of the country, Dr. Morris said.

The program, which is designed to find early cases of heart disease and tuberculosis, has been made possible by the cooperation of the Newton Health Department, Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Newton Community Council, District Nursing Committee of the Newton Women's Club.

The purpose of the screening examination, Dr. Morris pointed out, is not to make a diagnosis, but to refer to their family physicians those persons who seem to have chest conditions that need attention. These conditions can be treated much more successfully if found early.

The actual screening procedure is quite simple. Each Raytheon employee will first answer five questions about any of his possible heart disease symptoms. He will then have his height, weight, and blood pressure recorded. A physician from the health department will listen to his heart sounds. A chest X-ray completes his examination.

For the four weeks required to screen the more than 2,000 employees, the Raytheon Company has made one of its conference rooms available for the heart examinations. The chest X-ray mobile unit loaned by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health is parked outside the entrance to the conference room. Raytheon's personnel department is sending employees to be screened at the rate of two every five minutes.

Free chest X-rays were given to Raytheon employees in 1945 and 1947 by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, but this is the first time heart disease screening has been offered. Screening for heart disease is part of the Newton Heart Demonstration Program, the purpose of which is to determine how a community can solve its heart disease problems, and to demonstrate the finding to other communities throughout the country. A staff of Public Health Service specialists attached to the Newton Health Department is helping the Cardiac Program Committee of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital staff and the Heart Committee of the Newton Community Council to study the problems and to plan and carry out a program.

In the near future it is hoped that every Newton resident will have an opportunity to be screened for heart disease. Already the Newton Community Council is working on plans for starting a heart disease screening project in one village in the fall.

Staffing the screening program at Raytheon, besides physicians, and nurses from the health department, are the following: an X-ray technician from the Massachusetts Department of Public Health; nurses from the District Nursing Association; nurses, nurses' aides, gray ladies, staff aides, and canteen workers from the Red Cross; and volunteers from the Christmas Seal Committees of the Women's Clubs.

The following Christmas Seal Sale workers are helping Raytheon employees to register: Mrs. Joseph A. Bedard, Mrs. Carl P. Birmingham, Mrs. Robert Briggs, Mrs. William E. Colton, Mrs. Edwin A. Harris, Miss Merridith Landon, Mrs. Frank L. Ogilvie, Mrs. Esther W. Parker, Mrs. Alton S. Pope, Mrs. Fred G. Sandford, Mrs. Albert L. Silker, Mrs. A. B. Sziglas, Mrs. Rexford Taylor, Mrs. Ronald Vincent, Mrs. Harry Wansker, and Mrs. Eleanor B. Widger.

Newton Women Aid in Production Of Guide Booklet

Mrs. Ralph B. Jones of West Newton and Miss Helen E. Cleaves and Miss Margaret D. Stone, both of Waban, are members of the committee of appraisal which selects the many places described in the 28th summer guide booklet just published by the Women's City Club of Boston. It is carefully revised every year and published by a group of club members who wish to share with prospective and regular travellers the names of many well-managed places they have tried. A token of goodwill, "Where to Shop—Where to Stop in Boston and Along New England Motor Trails" is in demand by those who have used it as assurance of special hospitality and satisfaction.

Personal services are included in this booklet edited by Mrs. Ernest P. Railback of Newtonville, who also acts as chairman of the committee of approval.

The many illustrations in the current edition include choice etchings and woodcuts by outstanding artists. They were selected by Arthur Heintzelman, Keeper of Prints for the Boston Public Library, including the Wiggin Collection, as capturing the essence of the six New England states of whose special sections they are a feature. Miss Cleaves and Miss Stone cooperated with Mr. Heintzelman in the selection of the prints and drew the state maps in the guide.

Mrs. A. K. Abbe

Mrs. Aida Kittredge Abbe, wife of Rev. Harry A. Y. Abbe, retired Congregational minister, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James King Bonnar, in Newtonville, Wednesday morning, May 10, where they had made their home for the last four years.

Mrs. Abbe was the daughter of Dr. Charles M. Kittredge, who conducted a flourishing private sanatorium for invalids at Fishkill-on-Hudson, N. Y., until his death in 1896. She was born in Fishkill in 1876, and named for the opera "Aida" as her father was such a lover of music. She attended the "Convent," a private school for girls in Amherst, Mass., conducted by her aunt, widow of William F. Stearns, son of President Stearns of Amherst College. The late Dr. Alfred Stearns, headmaster of Phillips Academy, Andover, was there for her first cousin.

After school at the "Convent," Mrs. Abbe studied the piano with that late Prof. Tucker of Boston, also piano teacher at the "Convent," and at the New England Conservatory of Music, and with Von Inten, a pupil of Moscheles in New York City. In 1900 she was married and had four children; Julia Conant, graduate of Mount Holyoke College, English teacher in various schools, and now teaching English among the foreign representatives of the United Nations in New York; Charles Kittredge, a Dartmouth student who died soon after his sickness at Dartmouth and graduation, Phi Beta Kappa at Occidental College, Los Angeles, California, and whose letters and poems were edited by his brother George under the title "Hill Wind" and published by request of the Association Press in 1936, these give a wonderful tribute to his own mother and motherhood in general; Mary Helen, now Mrs. James King Bonnar, decorator and wife of the well-known artist of Newtonville, Rockport, and Gloucester; George, well known poet and author and teacher in colleges, now assistant professor of Creative Writing in Wayne University, Detroit, Mich., and two grandsons James Abbe Bonnar, a student at Dartmouth College, and graduate of Newton High School, and David Kittredge Bonnar, now a student at Newton High School.

Mrs. Abbe was active in her husband's parish work in Nyack-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.; Stowe, Vermont; Dublin, N. H.; Middleton, Mass., and Guilford, Conn. She taught many children the principles of piano playing in the various parishes. She organized the Altruist Club of young people in Middleton and Hathorne, The Kings Daughters in Middleton, and the Aida Kittredge Chapter of the Kings Daughters in North Guilford, Conn.

She was interested in and contributed to many benevolent organizations, eager for the relief of the poor and suffering and philanthropic in her constant giving out to herself to others. She had a personality that won enthusiasm, admiration and esteem wherever she was known.

Funeral services were held at North Guilford Congregational Church last Friday and committal was at Cedar Hill Cemetery, Hartford, Conn.

Milk — The Almost Perfect Food

Prepared by The Newton Nutrition Center
1357 Washington Street, West Newton

How much milk do you drink each day? How valuable is it to you in your diet?

Children of pre-school and school age should have at least one quart of milk each day and an adult should have at least 2 cups of milk daily.

Milk is the "Almost Perfect Food" because it supplies our body with a little of all the six essential food constituents necessary to maintain good health of our body and mind. These food constituents are carbohydrate, protein, fat, vitamins, mineral and water.

One cup of whole milk contains as much carbohydrate (sugar and starch) as that found in a medium sized apple or 3 saltine crackers; as much protein as in one egg or one ounce of meat, fish, cheese, poultry; as much fat as in two teaspoons of butter or margarine—but remember—you are also getting the Vitamin A—which is in butter as well as milk. Other vitamins in milk are thiamin, and riboflavin. Some of the milk is now irradiated or fortified with Vitamin D. All these vitamins are important for general growth of body, protection of eyesight, healthy nervous system, good appetite and to assist in building strong bones and teeth.

The most important minerals in milk are calcium and phosphorus, essential for good bones and teeth.

Milk is 87% water which is an important aid in the digestion of food and also replenishes the water content of the body.

Milk may be used in soups, sauces, puddings and on cereal if preferred.

Skim milk, buttermilk, dried milk and evaporated milk are the cheaper forms to use on food budget. When used in dough mixtures and combined with other foods they add to the nutritional value of the diet. Evaporated milk (undiluted) whips to make a valuable substitute for whipped cream.

Did you realize that two and one-half ounces of cheese are equivalent in nutritive value to a pint of fresh milk? Cheese is relatively inexpensive and is useful to add flavor to bland cereal foods, like bread, macaroni, hominy and rice.

High School—

Harvard University and Cambridge and a one-hour tour through Boston.

On return to the High School, the pupils divided into discussion groups on vocations, community services, United Nations, America in the world today, and school spirit.

A square dance called by Edward Tullis climaxed the day. The visitors left for Newport at 8:00 p.m. Newton pupils meet their Newport friends again May 25.

To assist their Newport guests, to be in study projects leading up to their visit, Newton pupils wrote analyses of social, cultural, economic, and educational phases of life in Newton and the nearby metropolitan area. These papers, which were sent to Newport for use in projects, were the basis for work in discussion groups during Wednesday's visit.

Instrumental in making possible the day's exchange have been the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, represented by Mrs. Riley Hampton; the Newton Kiwanis Club; and the Newton Rotary Club.

Newton pupils in the Exchange are: Sally Amidon, Sylvie Bond, Janet Bova, Carol Bram, Helen Brooks, Milo Clark, Sonya Coler, Mary Derr, Linda Dell, David Ferguson, Constance Ford, Robert Gifford, Samuel Glifx, Lawrence Glavin, Anita Hart, Nancy Hood, Thomas Jones, Sally Ann Levine, Daniel Lewin, Barbara McCullough, Kenneth Morse, Harold Murphy, Bruce Parker, William Patten, Anna Plendl, Marcia Silver, George Thornton, Betty May Tribble, Samuel Turner, Lois Ufford, and Joseph Wright. Faculty members are Miss Mary Irene Lanigan and Mr. Robert S. Harris.

Bundle Day—

program of assistance to children in isolated rural areas of the United States and in seven European countries.

Two million pounds of wearable clothing has been set as the national goal. Last year in the Eighth National Children's Clothing Crusade, nearly three million pupils took part in 813 bundle days in some 40 states and raised a total of 1,300,000 pounds.

Clothing collected by the Federation is distributed abroad for the relief of needy children in Austria, Finland, France, Greece, Germany, Holland and Italy. Save the Children Federation representatives in Europe report that clothing needs are particularly acute in Greece, parts of Italy, and among the refugees in Austria and Germany. At the start of the year, there were four million refugee children in these two countries alone.

In America clothing is distributed in low-income rural areas of eight Southern and Mid-western States and on the Navajo Indian Reservation, in which the Federation operates its sponsored school program. Many of the children in the American areas served come from families with cash incomes of less than $400 a year. If it were not for the Bundle Day collections, thousands of these children would not be able to attend school during inclement weather because of lack of proper clothing.

Dr. W. Howard Pillsbury, former president of the American Association of School Administrators, and chairman of the Federation's Advisory Committee of School Superintendents, points out that the public school bundle day "provides a practical and effective means of clothing collection, and, at the same time, teaches youth in our schools to share with the less fortunate. A sense of brotherhood will be fostered and a foundation laid for international good-will by participation in the National Children's Clothing Crusade."

Superintendent Gores said that wearable clothing of all types, in both baby's, children's and adult sizes; blankets, sheets and other bedding, and pairs of outgrown shoes are needed.

"I hope we will give a bit of ourselves with these gifts, by cleaning and mending the garments so they will express our good wishes for the children who receive them," he said.

A large number of shipping bags have been ordered from the Federation, and leaflets will be given to all children in the school system to take home during the week, stating the purpose of the drive and asking the cooperation of parents.

rooms, etc., all adequately equipped. A spacious kitchen is provided with all electric equipment for convenience of firemen. The second floor contains three officers' bedrooms with bathroom, showers, etc., and a large dormitory which includes large portion of area over the apparatus floor.

A large recreation room is provided in rear of the second floor with adjacent linen closet storage space.

The area between the dormitory and recreation room contains bathroom, showers and lockers for company personnel. Latest improved sliding poles are provided from upper hallway—dormitory and recreation rooms.

The basement contains a modern oil fired heating unit providing "radial" heat for apparatus floor with latest approved methods of heating the entire building.

The spacious area in rear of the station provides an excellent location for drill purposes and a fire hydrant has been provided for pump evolution in connection with company drills.

This station contains the new Engine 10 with a personnel of three officers and 11 privates and was established on January 3, 1950 providing fire protection for the rapid expansion of the Oak Hill district of the city.

Following the dedication the public is cordially invited to inspect the new fire station by Chief John E. Corcoran.

Says Country Now Is Duplicating England's Errors

The tragic plight of the English people under their present socialist-type government was discussed Monday by Robert H. Welch, Jr., of Belmont at the Rotary Club meeting held at the Brae Burn Country Clubhouse.

Welch, a prominent Cambridge candy manufacturer, took as his subject: "A business man looks at England." He was introduced by John Cox, local Rotarian and one of Welch's personal friends.

In his address Welch explained how the United States is duplicating England's economic and political mistakes by following about one-half generation behind that country down the road to socialism.

He also pointed out how Massachusetts is being used as a "guinea pig" by politicians on Beacon Hill and in Washington in their zeal to introduce socialist measures in this country.

He contended Massachusetts is now a leader in the "hand-out" class of states, where welfareism is being propounded.

"By then your home is so attractive and the whole world so harmonious, you may decide not to sell at all!" Seriously, however, just as we predicted two years ago, prices of single family homes will continue to drop for a long time. Due to rent control, prices of two and three-apartment properties are still low. The 1949 dollar considered, these are actually cheaper today than pre-war. This is a good time to sell your single and buy a good two apartment house. Later on singles will be cheaper; two family houses seem sure to go up with rent relief.

"Finally," said Turchon, "you must be prepared to take a fair price compared with other singles, if you really mean to sell.

Buyers of single family houses know that there are now more listings with brokers than for several years; that hundreds of new houses are standing vacant and unsold; that the fabulous figures of yesteryear are now history. Too many people bought homes they cannot afford and are now wisely looking to buy two-family homes that have not yet gone up like singles."

Re-elected Head of Brandeis Univ. Women's Comm.

For three years Welch has waged a personal fight against the inroads being made by socialism in Massachusetts and the United States, speaking before various civil, fraternal and business groups from one end of the state to the other.

England, Welch maintained, provides the American people with an "excellent mirror" reflecting the type of life that "creeping collectivism" leads to. Welch visited England three times to collect material for his talk on conditions in that country.

Re-elected Head of Brandeis Univ. Women's Comm.

Eliot Congregational Church was filled to capacity Saturday by over a thousand persons, including city, state and county officials, municipal employees and citizens from every station in life, at the funeral services for Edwin Otis Childs, 73, former mayor of Newton, who died Wednesday, May 17.

The services were the city's final tribute to the man who held the office of mayor for a total of 20 years, winning a wide circle of friends and political associates and endearing himself to everyone who knew him. The Rev. Ray Eusden, pastor of the church where the former mayor had been an usher for 34 years and a Sunday school teacher for 44 years, officiated.

Opening the services by reciting the 23rd Psalm, Rev. Eusden, D.D., was assisted by Rev. R. Watson Sadler, minister of the North Congregational Church. Herbert Irvine was the organist.

William M. Wasson was chief usher and was assisted by Charles Chasson, Charles Feeley, Dr. George Bowers, Charles E. Smith, Hugh S. Boyd, George W. Ayer, Arthur F. Tobey and Harry W. Bascom.

Mr. Childs was mayor of this city from 1914 to 1930 and from 1936 to 1940. Born in Newton August 19, 1876, he was the son of Edwin O. Childs and Caroline Chaffin Childs. He was graduated from Newton High School in 1895, from Harvard College in 1899, and from Boston University Law School in 1902.

Early in life he became active in the affairs of the Eliot Congregational Church, of which he was a member; North Congregational Church at Nonantum, the Newton Y.M.C.A., and the Nonantum Boys' Club. For more than twenty years he gave freely of his time to the Boys Club, of which he was in charge and at one time was chairman of the advisory board of Newton Chapter, Order of DeMolay.

He also had been a member of the Newton Board of Health; had served as a County Commissioner and had been a member of the Governor's Committee to study effects of alcoholism. For many years he was a practising attorney here.

Mr. Childs is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mildred Roy Childs; a son, Edwin O. Childs, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Kennedy; and three grandchildren, all of Newton; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Kendrick of Newton, and Mrs. Caroline Haslem of St. Louis, Mo.

campaign, Mr. Adams stated:

"Every campaign to be suc-

Our objective this year is going to be to make more givers want to give more. To do this, it is my opinion that we must emphasize and personalize the ac-

Red Feather agencies and we must make a strong emotional appeal rather than expect to get satisfactory results through just making routine calls. We must also go back to fundamentals, and improve our organizing and training programs.

"I shall endeavor, with my campaign leaders, to have our full quota of 2200 workers en-starts, and I am hopeful that we can develop a program of education for both workers and that we shall have more sub-

No one who under-

Three Newton Girls Take Part in May Day Exercises

Three girls from Newton took active part in the May Day festivities at Mount Holyoke College recently.

Miss Patricia Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Bentley of 65 Chase street was chairman of the May Day Presentation ceremony preceding the introduction of Miss Sue Hemphill, of Watertown, Mass., as the May Queen for 1950. During the presentation, held on Pageant field, the senior class made an arch for the queen and her court. As was traditional, Mrs. Roswell Gray Ham, wife of the president, crowned the queen.

Miss Sally Pilsbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer K. Pilsbury, of Newtonton played the part of Mrs. Allen in the Dramatic Club production of "Dark of the Moon," presented as part of the week-end's activities. Members of the cast included students from Amherst, Springfield, and Mount Holyoke Colleges.

Toastmasters Club In Initial Meeting

Alderman Riley Hampton, representing the City of Newton at the Charter Award Banquet of the Newton Toastmasters Club held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, came from behind and lead the field as a dark horse with a model after-dinner speech which exemplified everything Club members are trying to achieve through their membership in this unique organization. Club President, Richard A. McLellan of Newton Centre welcomed the Newton wives and guests from the Wellesley Toastmasters, sponsors of the new Newton Club, and delegations from Clubs in Boston, Quincy, Wakefield, Needham and Waltham.

Wives of the Newton members praised the short after-dinner type speeches given extemporaneously by their husbands and agreed that the showing justified being left alone at home each Wednesday evening when the Club meets for dinner at the Simpson House from 6:30 to 9.

Surprise evaluator of the speeches was Bill Serman, WCRB announcer, and member of the Wellesley Toastmasters. At the close of the evening, which was typical of the weekly meetings, Ervin Pietz of Boston presented Pres. McLellan with the Club Charter on behalf of Toastmaster International of Santa Anna, California. Mr. Pietz is New England Lieutenant Governor of the national organization.

All arrangements for the banquet were in the hands of Robert A. Coleron of Oak Hill Park, who also gave a prepared speech pinch-hitting for Edward McManam of Oak Hill Park, who was ill. Other prepared speakers were Clark W. and Frederick G. Fisher, brothers from Oak Hill Park; all introduced by the practice toastmaster of the evening, Lawrence J. Tierney of West Roxbury.

Subjects for individual extemporaneous two minute talks were passed out between courses by Topic Master Francis J. Burns, of West Roxbury, who chose homey topics which required diplomatic treatments by Club members as they spoke with their wives in the audience.

Besides the critique by Bill Sherman, individual talks were criticized by W. G. Doherty, Jr., and Herbert P. Boyle, both of Oak Hill Park, evaluators for the evening.

The "send-off" for the Holmes club came from Searle F. Holmes of the Wellesley sponsoring Club, who is Area Governor of Toastmasters International. The blinding flash bulb of photographer Robert L. Green along with the clatter of dishes being cleared by the waiters contributed to the true after-dinner speech at atmosphere which club members are training to cope with successfully.

The coup of the evening came when Alderman Hampton, using a good joke and props, delivered a top-notch short talk to show just how it should be done.

Two Girls Awarded Nine Varsity Letters for the First Time in Newton

At the Newton High School girls' athletic banquet held last Saturday evening in the high school gymnasium, two girls, for the first time in the history of the school, were awarded nine varsity letters. The affair was sponsored by the Girls' Leader Corps and almost five hundred were in attendance.

June Owen and Virginia Hatton, both seniors, were presented trophies by Harold B. Gores, superintendent of schools for their "outstanding athletic ability, achievement and leadership" in addition to the fact that they attained the unusual distinction of having earned nine varsity letters.

Miss Owen was chosen for membership on the Greater Boston Girls Hockey team last year. Both girls "have exemplified in every respect the highest ideals and standards desired in our high school" and are planning to continue their athletic interests at Sargent College next fall.

For outstanding leadership, Ellen Kattwinkel, president of the Girls' Leader Corps and member of the school legislature and National Honor Society who presided at the banquet as general chairman, was presented a cup.

Frank Simmons, director of physical education, presented the awards. Rev. Frederick Gremsema of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church was the featured speaker and took for his subject: "Girls Today, Women Tomorrow."

Invocation was given by Rev. Ernest W. Kuebler of the American Unitarian Association, a resident of West Newton. Piano selections were rendered by Lorraine Arcese and Nancy Goff and group singing was led by Wesley Merritt of the music department who also conducted the A Capella choir.

A number of girls received recognition for their athletic achievements and selection of those for the honor list was made on the basis of personality, as it combines in the following attributes: appearance, habits, attitude, reliability, cooperation, and friendliness; satisfactory interests in physical education activities as well as in all phases of school life; satisfactory scholastic achievement, citizenship in regard to school and community, loyalty, and sportsmanship.

Those named on the honor list were:

Edwin Otis Childs

The large outpouring of officials, citizens, friends and neighbors at the services last Saturday for Edwin Otis Childs, for twenty years mayor of this city, was a distinct tribute to the man, we believe, more than to his efficient directorship of the local government while he was its chief executive.

No greater tribute could be paid any individual than that accorded Edwin O. Childs, for beneath that tribute was the heart-felt love and sincerity of everyone for a man who embodied all that represented goodness, kindness, understanding, humility, simplicity and honesty.

It was not our privilege to have known Edwin O. Childs as well as many who have resided in Newton for many years. But it was not necessary. Merely a casual meeting, a speaking acquaintance, was enough to at once make one come to a realization that here indeed, was a kindly man, a good man and a man with an understanding heart.

As an official of this city, he set an enviable record as an intelligent, efficient administrator and as a most capable executive.

Yet the memory of him as a public official will not be as quickly recalled as will his many acts of kindness, sympathy and understanding to the citizens of this community.

The outpouring of mourners at his services last Saturday was a genuine tribute but reflection of it bears out the fact that the greatest tribute of all was that people from every walk of life, of every strata of income, were there to pay tribute to the memory of a man everyone loved and respected.

The Graphic's Policy

The Graphic is designed to supply a desideratum which has long existed.

Free from party trammels and sectarian influences, it will preserve strict neutrality, and, while maintaining a fearless spirit of independence, will be devoted, in an especial manner, to the local interests of the beautiful city which bears the name of Newton, and to the welfare and happiness of the large and growing population within its borders.

To develop the resources of Newton, to aid its cultural aims, to increase and facilitate its mercantile operations, to stimulate its business and trade, to accelerate its progress in the march to power and greatness, these shall always remain the objects of this paper.

If You Value Your Freedom

The failure of millions of Americans to exercise their right to vote is a national disgrace.

In the last Presidential election, for instance, less than half of the eligible voters troubled to go to the polls. In many elections in which the Presidency is not involved, less than a third of the voters cast ballots. What we have, as a result, is government by minority.

Free elections are at the root of all our freedoms. But free elections mean little if the people are too lazy or too indifferent to participate. A man who does not vote has no moral right to criticize the acts and policies of officeholders.

When you vote you are building on the foundation of the best system of government ever devised. And this is as true of primaries as of general elections. In the near future, primaries will be held in this state. The candidates of the parties will be chosen and will start their campaigns for election in November. If you want your party to nominate the candidate you believe best fitted, go to the polls.

If you value your freedom, if you have any interest at all in defending and maintaining a free nation, vote. Vote in every election, whether it involves a President or local officials. Every time you fail to vote, you fail to discharge the most basic American duty.

This idea that you can be rocked to sleep by a bureaucratic government and still remain free is just plain foolish.

Every Federal officeholder and deputy do-gooder is in favor of simplifying the executive establishments and rendering it less expensive, so long as his own agency is not touched. If anyone suggests that his office might be eliminated it comes close to treason.

Now, with the shooting war over, the continuance of these business-hurting taxes, with their adverse effects on employment and trade, is inexcusable.

Herbert Hoover has said: "It is a curious fact that when we get sick, we want an uncommon doctor. If we have a construction job, we want an uncommon engineer. When we get into war, we dreadfully want an uncommon Admiral and an uncommon General. Only when we get into politics are we content with the common man."

It's just as true today as it was then, when Abraham Lincoln said: "Folks who have no vices have very few virtues."

State Republicans Still in a Dither . . . Bradford May Yet Run . . . Judge Frankland W. Miles May Prove an Attractive Candidate . . . Senators Lodge and Saltonstall Differ on Mass. GOP Politics . . .

The Republican politicians are still in a dither as to who their candidate will be against Governor Dever in next November's election, and their situation seems to be becoming steadily more confused.

Word has been passed down the line to withhold commitments and that the picture may change in the near future.

General Daniel Needham, National Committeeman Sinclair Weeks and Attorney Charles B. Rugg all have been mentioned as possible candidates in the last few days.

Neither Weeks nor Rugg is desirous of making the fight. Both have other matters to engage their attention, and it would take a good deal of eloquent persuasion to induce either to toss his hat into the ring.

Meanwhile, on the sidelines, concentrating on the practice of law, is the man to whom the Republicans ultimately may turn before the deadline for submitting nomination signatures. His name is ex-Governor Robert F. Bradford, and it looks more and more as if a concerted effort eventually will be made to draft him.

Don't be surprised if former Lieutenant Governor Arthur W. Coolidge finally steps out of the gubernatorial field and Mr. Bradford moves into it.

One of the strange things about the Republican politics is that they devote a good part of their time softening up their own candidates. Some of the bitterest attacks ever directed at men like Thomas E. Dewey, Robert A. Taft, Harold W. Stassen and the late Wendell Willkie came from within the G.O.P.

They're doing much the same thing in the early stages of this gubernatorial primary. They've already virtually written off Mr. Coolidge, former Attorney General Clarence W. Barnes and Judge Frankland W. L. Miles, and from listening to some of the Republican talk you would gather that the only reason one of the three might conceivably win the G.O.P. nomination, if they prove to be candidates, is that they can't all lose.

The Republican politicians talk a good deal about wanting new faces and when a new one appears they promptly sharpen their hatchets and drive them into the head of the unwary candidate.

No sooner had Judge Miles announced his candidacy than one columnist, who is considered virtually a spokesman for the Republican party, announced that he is not strong enough to win the G.O.P. nomination for Governorship.

We don't know whether Judge Miles has the strength to stand up in a primary battle. Time may show that he is not well enough known to stand up against tested campaigners of the stamp of Barnes and Coolidge.

But the fact is that a move was started to write off Miles before he had any opportunity whatever to demonstrate what strength he could muster or what appeal he might have for the various elements in the Republican party.

Judge Miles might well be a very attractive candidate next November. He could be the new face the Republican party is looking for. His candidacy might catch fire. He has only started to campaign, and certainly it is far too early to rule him out of the contention.

Of course, the obvious difficulty at this stage in attempting to forecast the possible trend of the fight for the right to run as the Republican candidate for Governor is that there is still no certainty as to who the final contenders will be.

Ex-Governor Bradford would probably have little trouble sweeping the primary if he is persuaded to run. National Committeeman Weeks would have tremendous backing if he became a candidate. But if they stay on the sidelines, you can look for a hot G.O.P. primary race.

It has become increasingly apparent that there are widening differences between Senators Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Leverett Saltonstall.

There have been a number of instances where the two have been on opposite sides of questions to come before the Senate, and recently there have been indications that they do not see eye to eye on G.O.P. policies and procedures in their home State.

Former State Senator Mason Sears of Dedham was Lodge's hand-picked choice for the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee, and when Sears assumed his duties it was taken for granted that Lodge would be the real leader in guiding the G.O.P. affairs in the Bay State.

There has been a disposition on the part of many of the Republican bigwigs to bypass Sears, and few of the suggestions he has made for pumping new lifeblood into the G.O.P. veins have met with any enthusiastic response.

When the Republican brass hats began seeking a candidate to run against Mr. Dever, their first choice was Lodge. But Lodge had given up his Senate seat once to enter the army, and he was not at all receptive to the idea that he do so again and lose his seniority a second time.

As soon as it was apparent that Lodge himself would not run for the Governorship, the party bigwigs began paying much less attention to Sears.

The county treasurer in Litchfield, Minn., soberly pondered a note attached to a citizen's tax return which read: "The cannibals had a way of solving high taxes. They ate the tax collector."

The two women Governors were Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming, now the director of the U. S. Mint, and "Ma" Ferguson of Texas.

Blow, bugle, blow! Now let your echoes reach
Beyond the stars . . . while 'neath this sacred sod,
A hero lies entombed, his name,
Known but to God.

Through his veins once flowed the blood
Of vibrant youth . . . we know not race or creed;
Yet now his sacred dust
Belongs to us.

Let high or low come here with reverent pace,
Our nation has designed this as a place . . .
A shrine ennobled by his giving,
That we may go on living.

He had his dreams of a tomorrow's dawning,
Of robin red-breast singing in the morning . . .
A blinding flash . . . searing pain,
Then he came home again.

How long, O Lord, must peaceful men keep trying,
Our youth to go on fighting, bleeding, dying?
Have pity, Lord, hasten the day,
Men learn Thy way.

A Capable Appointment

Editor, The Graphic:

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen I had the privilege of recommending to the board the confirmation of the appointment of Richard H. Lovell as a member of the Planning Board of the City of Newton for the next three years. Mr. Lovell resides at 234 Park street, Ward 7, and is the qualified type of young man our city will look to for public service over the next generation. He is 31 years of age, a practicing attorney, married, and the father of three lovely little children. He is also a property owner and taxpayer. But above all, he is expertly qualified, genuinely sincere, and an independent thinker. These assets will surely be put to good use on the important task he has assumed.

Mayor Lockwood is to be commended for such a capable appointment. The citizens of Newton are to be congratulated in having such a capable young man as Richard H. Lovell ready and willing to serve the public interest. Surely Newton's future will be enhanced in the capable hands of young men such as Richard H. Lovell.

Displaced Persons

Editor, Newton Graphic:
Have we forgotten the D.P.'s? The problem of displaced persons is a big and difficult one. When World War II ended, there were millions of displaced men, women, and children. A large number of refugees, especially those who lived in Western European countries such as France and Belgium, quickly returned home. But the countries of many of the refugees had fallen under the control of Russia. Many of the Eastern Europeans, disliking Communism, were afraid to return home so stayed on in Displaced Person's camps, hoping to find other countries which they could go to. Now, three years later, there are about 600,000 Displaced Persons still waiting and hoping. What have you done for the Displaced People who are still waiting for a free life and home?

Women's Club
Holds Annual Meeting, Banquet

The fourth grade of The Fessenden School, West Newton, will present a play to parents and boys of the school today (Thursday).

Entitled "Fifty Years on the Range," the play depicts the saga of the Old West and the reunion of a long lost father and son, in true "Horse Opera" style. The program, directed by Mrs. William Goodhue, the fourth grade teacher of Fessenden's Lower School, will include songs by the "Glee Cubs," the youngest boys' counterpart of Fessenden's regular Glee Club. Taking part in the play are the following local boys:

From West Newton: Courtney F. Bird, Jr., Peter S. Slocum, and Peter L. Thurmond.

From Newton Centre: Kenneth R. Dana and Caryl C. Hastings. From Waban: Richard S. Hall.

From Chestnut Hill: James E. Bland, Robert B. MacPhail, Jr., and Donald B. Sherin.

The club decided to change its system of planning the meetings for next year, and instead of placing the responsibility on one person, it was decided to elect a chairman and co-chairman every month so that she, and her committee, could plan the program and see that it goes off successfully.

ONE of the rarest satisfactions a 1950 Cadillac brings to its owner is serenity. He hasn't the slightest reservation about his car—and he takes to the highway with complete peace of mind.

Watch him briefly in the stream of traffic—and, if he is a normal Cadillac driver, you will quickly sense what we mean. He drives as befits his mood and his requirements, and is quite content to let other people do the same.

Unless he happens to be in a hurry, it is all right with him if another driver wants the honors when the light turns green. He knows that the surplus power in that eager, dynamic engine was put there for his safety and driving ease—and not for dramatic display on the get-away.

And so on the open road. If you wish to drive a little faster than he does, let him know.

More Than Seven Hundred Attend Hospital Fashion Show

Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., president of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association, assisted by Mrs. Robert A. Hogsett, vice-president and other officers and committee chairmen, greeted more than seven hundred Newton and Wellesley women who attended the bridge party and fashion show which was held in the spacious ballroom of Alumnae Hall at Wellesley College Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, medical director, who was unable to be present because of a previous engagement asked Mrs. Moore to extend greetings from the Newton-Wellesley Hospital to those assembled and thank them for helping to make a success of the affair, proceeds from which will benefit the hospital. Through Mrs. Moore, he announced that the newly constructed wing now has sixty-one beds in use and that twenty-six more will be added to that number as soon as furnishings for these rooms are available.

Also that the specially humidified rooms on the children's ward have already proven life-saving on some occasions.

Most unusual and attractive spring and summer fashions were shown during the style show which was under the direction of Mrs. Orville Forte. Mrs. Joan Tansley, fashion commentator, described in an instructive and charming manner the costumes displayed by ten lovely models.

Among the outstanding creations worn by Mrs. John P. B. Condon, was a sun-kist red, quilted ed pique skirt with a gray silk shantung blouse. A white softly tailored suit of imported non-crushable linen, with patch-pocketed jacket also attracted much attention as did a yellow embossed cotton house-coat decorated with large tortoise-shell buttons accenting the side pleats from waist to hem-line.

A costume for daytime wear which caused much comment was an imported green and white plaid damask linen coat over a prem cloth sun-back dress worn by Mrs. George M. Belcher. Her aqua Duschen gabardine dress suit of softest wool with which a white rough straw hat trimmed with plush brown pompons was shown, was much admired. Mrs. Belcher also appeared in one of the popular seersucker plaid robes suitable for relaxation at home.

Mrs. Charles Post, Jr., modeled a champagne colored, brown polka-dotted sheer afternoon dress over a taffeta under-skirt as well as a robin's egg blue shantung dress with extremely wide revers on the sleeveless blouse and worn with matching hat and scarf. Two-tone blue cotton lounging pajamas proved a comfortable as well as beautiful leisure time outfit.

A gay printed cotton with beaded design on the skirt and a lime colored blouse trimmed with black velvet was worn by Mrs. Stewart Hamilton. She also modeled a gold linen sun-back dress with embroidery trim and a smartly short bolero jacket. Her mustard yellow brunch coat proved to be one of the new spring favorites to be fitted into any wardrobe.

Miss Martha Lee was lovely in wool suit, a country classic, with coat having softly rounded edges to collar and cuffs; the suit of imported Linton mixture tweed in soft blue was worn by Mrs. Chester Harris. Her dinner dress was a printed chiffon over a taffeta slip with gracefully draped bodice and softly swirling skirt. A long robe featuring a confetti dot on black made a delightful travel garment.

Mrs. Roger E. Hall and Mrs. Worthing West were co-chairmen for the afternoon and they were ably assisted by large committees made up of members and friends of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association representing all of Newton and Wellesley.

Miss Shirlee Collens Wed To Mr. Bommer, In Chestnut Hill

On the 48th anniversary of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collens of Newton Centre, Miss Shirlee Norcross Collens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Terry Collens of Newton Centre and Northwood, N. H., was married last Saturday at the First Church in Chestnut Hill to Mr. William Bommer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bommer of Fairhaven.

A reception at her parents' home in Newton Centre followed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Kenneth O. Gerner. The bride wore her mother's veil of hand-made Brussels lace and an ivory satin gown with a cathedral train and insets of Chantilly lace. She carried lilies-of-the-valley and white orchids.

In place of her sister, Mrs. David E. Parker (Priscilla Collens) of Somerset, Bermuda, who will not come here until October, the bride had Mrs. Kenneth G. Cloud of Milton as matron of honor. She and the maid of honor, Miss Cynthia W. Gruner of Weston, wore white embroidered organdy over blue, and carried blue and yellow hydrangeas.

Hunnewell Club Host to Wompatuck Club

The Hunnewell Club entertained the Wompatuck Club of Hingham last Friday evening. The two clubs have visited each other on previous occasions, and it appears that a very pleasant relationship is being established.

Visitors and hosts engaged in interclub matches of billiards, bowling and bridge. Competition was friendly but spirited. At the end it was apparent that Hunnewell needs more practice in bowling, that Wompatuck was a shade better at billiards, but that Hunnewell has the edge at bridge.

Over matching taffeta. Dressed similarly were the bridesmaids, who had horse hair hats of the same color, and carried cascade bouquets of harmonizing lilacs and tulips. They were Miss Patricia A. Sheehan of Newton Centre, Miss Rosamond C. O'Keefe of Chestnut Hill, Miss Dorothy A. Davis of Newton and Miss Margaret G. Ryan of Brighton.

Saltonstall At Oak Hill Park Dedication Urges Good Sense In Government To Foil Soviet

Senator Leverett Saltonstall, at the Oak Hill Park dedication Sunday, appealed for "common sense in our economic life and business-like order in government affairs," to prevent the collapse of America's economy anticipated by the Soviets to pave the way for Communistic triumph in the Western world. More than 5,000 persons gathered to witness the official opening of the Oak Hill Park project, built entirely with city funds.

"Maintenance of an adequate armed strength for our nation under expert leadership of trained soldiers gives us our bulwark against attack and is evidence of our determination to stand fast for what we believe is right," the senator stated.

"But we must realize also that Communist leadership, which hopes for our economic weakening and collapse, believes its planned triumph over us will be made easier, if fear can be created among us, making us spend more for our defense than we can afford."

This danger can be averted, Senator Saltonstall said, by using common sense in government and economics and eliminating unnecessary spending.

The Massachusetts statesman projected, as a formula for checking the spread of Communism, the following: "Have faith in our way of life, learn more and more what it means to each of us and be a shining example of men and women who know how to live sensibly and bravely in this life of freedom."

Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, after tracing the history and development of the project and praising those who aided in it, stated: "With special reference to the splendid group of Newton citizens who have made such attractive homes in this new village, we may call to mind that the physical attributes of a city are secondary to the people themselves. While our new homeowners have viewed all features with interest, when asked as to the chief attraction, they have uniformly described their greatest pleasure as coming from getting acquainted with the fathers and mothers of the children with whom their children will live and play. That is perhaps our greatest pleasure, and in the name of our city may I bring to them all official and personal greetings, and to all our visitors and citizens greetings and an expression of appreciation for their presence and cooperation in this happy event. All these residents have experienced the privilege of service to their country. Now they realize that as citizens of Newton they gain further happiness in service to their city."

Prior to the veterans project dedication, Mayor Lockwood dedicated the new $145,000 fire

H. Edgar Beaven Elected President of Frank A. Day Junior High School P.T.A.

H. Edgar Beaven was elected president of the F. A. Day Junior High School Parent Teachers' Association at the final meeting of the season held last Wednesday evening in the school auditorium. Other officers elected were Mr. Galen A. Bloom, vice-president; Mrs. L. D. Horsman, executive secretary; Mrs. Richard Loud, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Donato DeSantis, treasurer.

Reports of the activities of the year were given by committee chairmen, and a gift of $250 was presented to the school to be used at the principal's discretion.

Of particular interest was the report of the success of the Students' Canteens which were run by the students but financed by the Parent Teachers' Association. An average of 200 students attended each canteen, and the student body is anxious to continue the series next year.

Following the business meeting, Mr. Harold B. Gores, superintendent of Newton schools, spoke on "New Problems Facing the Schools," and Mr. Ralph Morse, principal of Day Junior High School, explained the proposed new time schedule which is being considered for the school in an endeavor to give teachers more time for planning better coordination of school work, and for more help for individual students.

The meeting was attended by approximately 250 members of the Parent Teachers' Association, and parents of sixth grade children who will attend Day Junior High in the fall.

Nations Top Women Golfers At Woodland Club This Week-end

This week-end, Newton and surrounding golf enthusiasts will have the opportunity of watching the Bauer sisters, Marlene and Alice from Midland, Texas; Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Patty Berg, Louise Suggs, Betty Jameson, Peggy Kirk and others compete for the 34-hole $3000 Women's Eastern Open at the Woodland Golf Club.

The tournament will be held this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with 18 holes on each day. The feminine mashie wielders have already established themselves as a succession a nationwide tour, especially in the Weathervane tournament which has just concluded at White Plains, N. Y.

Fessenden School Given Citation

Fessenden School, West Newton, was one of fourteen Massachusetts schools to receive a citation for the most outstanding 1950 Pan American Observance at ceremonies held last Friday afternoon during the Boston Jubilee Week, at the Melrose Fruit Company, Long Wharf, Boston.

Competitively, the favorite at Woodland will be Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias. She has been the standout of the Weathervane competition and will have the benefit of local knowledge, if she needs it, because she has played at Woodland several times. But Patty Berg, Louise Suggs and Betty Jameson, as well as Peggy Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, winner of the Titleholders tournament and the Bauer sisters will see to it that Mrs. Zaharias has plenty of competition.

Most of the low handicap players in the Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts will also be on hand to compete for the amateur prizes and also to sharpen their game for the state championship which will be held June 19-24 at Brae Burn.

Fred Corcoran, who is generally credited with elevating men's golf competition to a big-time status, is introducing the touring women golf professionals to Greater Boston.

This week-end, all roads will lead to the Woodland Golf Club.

Miss Barbara Drake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Drake, 62 Sheffield road, Newtonville, has recently been appointed assistant business manager of "Lamarada," the Mount Holyoke College yearbook. She will serve in this position for the year May 1950 to May 1951. Miss Drake is a junior at Mount Holyoke.

Newton Has No Trouble Defeating Thayer Acad'y

By JOE MCGAFFIGAN

Lanky Al Phinney collected four hits in five trips as Newton High routed Thayer Academy 16-4 in a non-league game at Dickinson Field on Monday. Coach Howard Ferguson's colorful nine now sports an overall record of eight wins and two setbacks, a league record of six victories in eight outings.

Bob Gilbert received credit for yesterday's contest. Bob relieved Freddy Sutherland in the third and allowed only one unearned run to tally against him. Long John Thomas finished up by pitching the ninth for practice.

Thayer jumped into a 3-0 lead at the very outset of the game. A walk and three bingles tallied Thayer's three markers.

The Tigers were held scoreless in the first but then tallied in every other inning. They scored one in the second, two in the third, one in the fourth, three in the fifth, five in the sixth, and two each in the seventh and eighth.

In the second, Newton tallied one run on a walk, a single by Phinney, a walk and a fielder's choice. The Tigers scored two more markers to make it a 4-3 ballgame.

A walk, a hit batter (Rick Rycroft), a stolen base, and three consecutive fielder's choices accounted for the two tallies.

Freddy Dauten's long triple with Peter Santucci on scored the tying run of the game.

Thayer's starter, Jerry Good, went bad in the fifth. With one down, Joe Landry reached on the first baseman's error. Phinney doubled him to third. After Boole grounded out, Pete Santucci walked, loading the bases.

Successive walks to Curt Flithian, Gilbert and Dauten sent in three markers.

Members of the 1950 staff are as follows: Everett L. Keyes, Building Boys' Secretary, will act as registrar. Alden W. Read, a teacher in the Day Junior High School, will be the coach of baseball. Eugene R. Clark Jr., associate physical director, will be the assistant director of swimming.

Francis A. Tanner Sr., principal of the Davis School, will direct the motion picture program.

O. Norton Harrington, a student at Tufts College, will be the director of swimming. C. Woodworth Crowther, a student at Amherst College, will instruct in tennis and archery. Edwin J. Bangston, a student at Boston University, will assist in softball and baseball.

Raymond J. Buell Jr., a student at Newton Junior College, will be the assistant instructor in archery. Elinor Babbitt will be the crafts instructor. Angelo A. Cialdea and Julio M. Cialdea, students at Newton High School, will be camp assistants.

The camp committee is composed of Roy G. Connor, chairman, George E. Higgins, Galen A. Bloom, Cornelius Reggeveen, Thomas F. Copp Sr., W. Scott Brent Sr., Henry W. Mahler, Leon A. Huston, and Franklin L. Morris.

August Osterlund, Inc., Establishes Enviable Record

Last January was a significant milestone in the business career of August Osterlund of Newton. At that time he was surrounded by long-time friends and veteran employees, to celebrate his 25th anniversary as a Nash dealer in this city.

As president of the concern bearing his name, Mr. Osterlund has established an enviable record as a sound, progressive businessman and merchandiser in a highly competitive field of enterprise.

On the day of this 25th anniversary, January 12, Mr. Osterlund was greeted by Nash Motors factory officials who came here to help him celebrate his business birthday. As a memento of the occasion, O. J. Watson Boston Zone Manager for Nash Motors, presented the long-time dealer with a suitably inscribed gold Airflyte desk set.

As an indication of the long years of Nash experience back of August Osterlund, Inc., Mr. Osterlund was joined at his anniversary by five of his employees with 160 years of selling and servicing Nash cars.

Exhibiting Works At Boston Showing

Three Newton artists are exhibiting works in the third annual exhibition by the Boston Printmakers at Paine Furniture Company, 81 Arlington street, Boston, through June 3.

Henry G. Devlin, 309 Langley road, Newton Centre, is exhibiting an aquatint, "Two Figures." Mr. Devlin was awarded the Boston Printmakers' Purchase Prize for this print. He is now a student at the Museum School of Fine Arts.

From Newtonville, Charles J. A. Wilson, 74 Brookside avenue, is showing a dry point, "Figure-head," while Sylvia Mayzer, 20 Charlotte road, Newton Centre, is exhibiting a color lithograph, "House on Washington Street." Miss Mayzer was awarded honorable mention for her print. She has formerly exhibited her work with the Printmakers and the Boston Society of Independent Artists.

The exhibition this year includes more than one hundred works—lithographs, etchings, woodcuts, engravings, line-cuts and serigraphs. Many of the country's leading print makers are exhibiting members of this association.

The following students will receive certificates for completing the three year course in musicianship and theory of music: Beverly Back, Brigitte Balos, Bethel Billizikian, Barbara Hayes, Mary Margaret McGinn, Robert Pettit, Patricia Pierce, Christine Roymans, Sandra Van Steenberger, Maxine Webb.
